Dear Readers,

The MBA 2014 year book is a collection of beautiful pictures and attention-grabbing remarks. It reflects comradery amongst the MBA 2014, indeed. It is for the first time that MBAs of LUMS took an initiative to compile a year book. Interestingly, SDSB faculty also pitched in to make it a memorable year book.

I congratulate MBA 2014 for taking this initiative and establishing the MBA Year Book Club. Hopefully, it will become a tradition for the MBA batches to come.

Enjoy reading!

"A random variable is the numerical outcome of an experiment"

I am sure this would ring a bell for every one of us, transporting us to those early days of sheer terror, when it seemed we would be doing nothing but studying cases and readings, writing nothing but WACS, and talking nothing but the dreaded terms LPs and CPs for a long, long, time to come. We had all acquired 16 years of education, which included 4 years (oh how short and blissful they now appeared) of an undergraduate program, but all of a sudden it seemed as if we had dedicated two interminable years of our lives to unadulterated torture. Yet here we are, at the last stage of this obstacle race, strangely still alive. Some, perhaps, have enjoyed every moment, most of us have had our good times, and some (we hope very few) have hated it all, but for all of us, it has been a rollercoaster ride towards the next, and we wish, very fruitful, phase in our careers. We take this opportunity to wish a wonderful, successful, and most importantly, very happy life ahead, to the MBA Class of 2014!

Final thoughts on MBA 2014 from faculty

For the one last time 2014, here is what our faculty has to say about you and your future careers!
It is always a moment of pride to see our students pass out with high spirit and the belief that they can conquer any challenge that they confront. The intention behind two years of rigor is to strengthen LUMS value and passion, and ambitions important for causes for self, family, community, and nation. At this moment of celebration, I exhort you not to lose sight of your roots, and what you owe to your country. I also urge you to be humble and keep up the quest for knowledge. Your class has always demanded the best teachers, the best facilities, and the best of everything. Retain your desire for never settling for anything short of the best, both for yourself and for others in your life but remember to contribute in the same spirit.

I wish you the very best in career, your personal lives and all your future endeavors.

May you be ambassdor of your batch, your university, and your country wherever you go!

Dr. Arif Nazir Butt
Dean, SDSB, LUMS

This is an auspicious occasion for the MBA Class of 2014. You are starting a new chapter in your life. There will be several opportunities in the future and you will be at a crossroads, making choices. In making choices, make sure you adhere to your principles and uphold to your values because character is of prime importance. Competence without character is dangerous, and character with competence will bring humility in you. The pursuit of excellence should continue forever.

It is the journey that matters more than the destination. Stay in touch with your alma mater and try to give back to it. Best wishes, MBA 2014, for this life as well as the hereafter.
I would like to thank all of you for making my two years interacting, debating and fighting (don’t know how to translate the Urdu words ‘Mar Peet’) with you folks so much exhilaration and fun. No wonder I don’t drink Mountain Dew. One session with you folks was enough dose for the day. In the process I hope you might have learned something worthwhile which will help you in times to come. Do remember that we expect you to become hugely successful human beings, business persons, and donors to LUMS and other important causes (in that sequence) as soon as possible. Keep us posted so that we keep on taking the credit for all your achievements.

Dr. Ehsan-ul-Haque

Hello All,

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you on completing your MBA from the best business school in Pakistan. This makes each and everyone of you (... YE Moazzam even you!) a sort after contender for all employers.

We at LUMS challenged you academically and made demands, out of your comfort zone so that you become better at problem solving under pressure, a situation you will come across multiple times in your future endeavours. It is really important that you relish the highs of LUMS and be greatful for all the success that you have achieved. Similarly, you should view those “LPS” as valuable in your growth and learning.

Congratulations once again & hav a bright future!

Cheers,

Asad Alam

MBA 2014 - technically I should be writing something rhetorically accurate & appropriate to the academic CTMC world however, I’ll refrain for delivering yet another lecture (much to you dismay I’m sure) & simply acknowledge to all who wish to actively listen that MBA 2014 did me a great favor....

MBA 2014 - a class full of some of the most unique character made for me the teaching experience once again challenging and stimulating at a time when teaching was beginning to lose its charm. On the verge of losing interest in my profession you guys made me fall in love with my work all over again- so thank you for that!

I am sure you all will be successful in your professional endeavours - that goes without saying, high achievers that you are, - so my wish for you is simply that may you never get bored with/of your profession & enjoy all aspects of your work & appreciate the “high” that is achievement.

Aamna Khalid

Wishing you all the success in the world and the here after.

MBA class of 2014 is the 27th batch of MBAs at LUMS that I had the privilege of teaching. Each of these classes had their own distinctive character and strengths. Class of 2014 exhibited a high degree of enthusiasm for learning. The manner in which this class handled the OM projects demonstrated a keen desire to engage with the real world and take on challenges. I have learnt from this class and hope that I have also been able to contribute to their development and learning.

It is my hope and prayer that all members of this class succeed in not only carving out successful careers for themselves but also bring prosperity and happiness to their respective families and the community at large.

Class of 2014 was blend of forward and backward looking students. Those who did badly always accused their poor academic background. Those who barely passed either start seeking jobs in multinational or planned to do a PhD in Management sciences from an Ivy League.

There were very few who are realistic enough to admit that it was a mistake to be in the program at the first place.

TO EXCEL IN LIFE IS NOT CONFINED TO A SELECT FEW.

EVERY INDIVIDUAL HAS THE POTENTIAL TO ACHIEVE THIS GOAL.

The prescription to excel, however, is based on 3 Hs formula: HARDWORK, HUMILITY and HONESTY. If you practice these you will, doubtless, be able to scale any heights.

My Best Wishes to all of you in your future career pursuit.

MBA 2014: I remember them as being hard working, CP driven and very conscious about their grades! But all MBA batches are like this! However, I recently attended their musical performances and was impressed to see that they are not nerds like others that we produce every year! I am sure that this fierce sense of competitiveness and insecurity that we have instilled in them, they will serve the capitalists' interests well!

Best wishes for the most entertaining MBA class I have had the experience of teaching. Obviously, you were less entertaining compared to my batch :P. Have a successful career, but more importantly, a happy life.

While we encouraged, talked without thinking, during you stay here, do not make this habit (Bohat bore kartay hain). It was a pleasure teaching you guys for half a semester, be good!

"Nothing was more pleasurable (and challenging too :-( ) than discussing the ethical issues in the Islamic framework with the future business leaders of Pakistan. I have to admit that your interest in this area and your active engagement in class discussions despite the lack of direct incentive of CP marks was quite a surprise, and what a pleasant one! Wish you all careers that will make this world a better place for others, and earn you the pleasure of Allah Ta'ala."

A group of intelligent & perseverant individuals! I not only enjoyed teaching you but also got impressed with your insightful CBMR projects.

Wish you all the best!

Dear MBA 2014,

I enjoy my time with you. I feel that our batch is fully pleasant and I am sure it will be a pleasant experience for you also. We need to remember that you are doing something that few are able to do and this reminds me of the fact that you have to do your best. This quote which is always true:

“Some people dream of success, while others wake up and work.”

Anyhow, make good use of your free time and never lose your nature. It will always be a pleasure to interact with you. You are all doing very good in your respective jobs. I wish you all the best.

Abdul Karim

It was a great experience teaching class. The Class performance in terms of productive discussion while fiercely defending or negotiating respective position/ views was truly thrilling.

Thanks

Salman Khan

They were not afraid to learn new things and, in the process, were willing to admit that they might not know everything under the sun. So that was my impression of the batch (or the 30 people taught).

And my message; it takes a much stronger manager to run a learning organization than it takes to run a leading organization. So always be stronger than your organization.

It is always great to see 2nd Year with all the confidence in the world, ready to take on the big corporations with charm, wit and knowledge. 2014s are no different. Smart, we articulated and aggressive, just how we like our MBAs. I think the key strength of this particular batch, compared to source of their predecessors is that empathy and generosity in them contrary to the usual overly ambitious persona of MBA batches, there is humility as well as ambition in equal measure in this group: a great asset indeed.

I wish you all the best for the future beta. I'm sure you'll do brilliantly.

MBA 2014: my first MBA teaching experience, and thus a special class for me. I am really enjoying to interact with this class who can relate things with organizational setting/realities. At undergrad level, at times, the concern of instructor is "how to fill the class time". With this class, my major concern is "how to fill the contents in such a short time". MBA 2014 will remain special for me and I hope "we" will learn new things out of this HRM course.

"It has been a great experience to teach MBA 2014. Every time I teach to MBA students at sdsb, it simply reinforces my confidence on our young people, only piece of advice I can give to you is to think big and then work wholeheartedly to achieve that objective with conscious effort to remember all the stakeholders in your life.

All the best and stay connected"

Luqman Awan
It was a pleasure to teach your class the Operations Strategy course. This gave me an opportunity to interact with you and know the myriad of ways people can be different. I saw you all in the class. The studious students trying to find their place in the front rows, staring at fellow students and trying to assimilate as much information as they can. The shy ones trying to hide themselves behind others. The bold and the vocal ones, ever trying to steal a CP. And yes, the late comers, and the confused ones, who are blaming others for spoiling their learning experience. In fact, you all looked beautiful in your inherent roles. And, I could not have such a wonderful experience of teaching and learning in the absence of any one of you.

At this juncture, when we are about to part, that has to happen sooner or later, I wish you all the successes in your future lives. I wish you happiness and blessings.

Yours,
Dr. Kamran Ali Chatha

Sneak Peak into OUR Life
So I came to LUMS, so uninterested in business education that it’s unbelievable to see myself become a part of this year book! Bored at the sight of a university, I was a queen of procrastination for I couldn’t comprehend why there was such a sense of urgency for something as trivial as parhai!! Like really ..? Utterly void of a competitive streak I slept throughout the first semester, while my fellow corporate pups were competing fiercely in the battle field of the LUMS MBA program. Nothing what so ever motivated me, I was told that this label of “LUMS MBA” would ensure my secure future, and my demand would go up by a hundred percent not only in the job market but also in the shaadi market but alas, I JUST couldn’t be bothered. Forever ready to flee this MBA program what did ultimately ensure that I do stick around till the end was my father’s kind request. He said “you may not need a label for yourself, but you have got to earn this degree for me”. So then, for the sake of my dad, I woke up from my beauty sleep, got my brain out of its den, and decided to play the game one more time. It was hilarious to see the reaction of my fellows; those who believed that I was common, not competition and nothing but a useless twit, were pleasantly surprised to hear me speak in class and not sleep for a change. I don’t know what the future holds for me or where would I be ranked in any of the world’s social markets and I don’t really know whether I am in your good or bad books but I would just like to say , in a Robert Downy Jr, tone “the truth is IM roll #1 ;-) !

LUMS MBA, the last chapter of my student life; an extraordinary and a life time experience for me. I never thought that I would be sad when it would end. I must say these 2 years were full of joyful moments with some of the best people I have ever come across. All those hangouts, "talking" sessions, precious "moments", group projects, "CP Iaganay ki tension" and DR sessions had taken the fun to a whole new level. Not to forget the time at the exchange program which added its own value to my experience with my fellows. All that I have learned in this time, in every aspect, it's because of all of you.

I wish you all a very best of luck for your future. Please stay in touch.

Well... I would say that LUMS MBA gave me the confidence to survive anywhere... I became aware of my abilities... I can now Inshallah achieve anything I want in life... this is what the LUMS MBA made me believe... to believe in myself... to have faith... I remember in 1st semester when due to an injury incurred while running on LUMS jogging track... I couldn’t walk for 4 months... the toughest time of my life... with all the pressure of studying while being away from home... but I got over it... and made it through... I can make through anything... and Helllllllo world... here I come... the sky is the limit :)

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times...
All in all, it was the LUMS of times...

My experience in LUMS was a mixture of a lot of things. Truly it was an experience that actually evolved with time. The long hours in the library and the sleepless nights in the reading room were just a fraction of the overall experiences.

But the thing that I enjoyed most was getting to know the people of different backgrounds and becoming friends with most of them. The friends that I made during these two years, I learned a lot from each and every one of them. Friends like Farhan, Nargis, Aftab, Aina, Saba Gul, Huma, Ali, Hasan, Abu and Faisal among others are really hard to find and I am really glad that I got to know them. I am running around will truly be missed and the late practices were a great past time for each and everyone of us.

All in all, it was an experience worth remembering.
If not all of it, then most of it.
Will miss you all.... Later....

Harry: You are the most dependable person in the world. I know I can always rely on you! You are always there. You are always there. You are always there! You are always there. You are always there.

Sarwat: One of the best moments I spend with you have been outside of LUMS and combine that with the fact that you have been an amazing student just shows how wonderful you really are.

Sir Galahad, one of the best friends of Pakistani gentlemen. People like you restore my faith in humanity.

Sir Nursa Wazoom

One of the best friends I have been able to make in LUMS. You are so humble and loyal friend and you were so patient to listen to my annoying opinions. Seriously life at LUMS would have been boring if you were not there. - Aftab, Usman

2 years back, I came to a place that was totally new for me. New city, new campus, new people- everything was strange and weird. I never thought that this place would give me best friends and awesome memories for the rest of my life. I wanted to graduate as soon as possible but I don't know there is something that is stopping me now.

I want to re-live SOP moments, WAC nights, laughter attacks, PDC memories, exchange semester fun, LP ka khoof, CP ki tension, DR ke shughal, Late night movie scene, Hadi ke jokes, Timmy ki cooking, Jaffar ka Jaafy, Hareem ka slow processor, Sana say serious talk, Zaid ka kingdom, Mahvish ke rolaay, Ansar or disco movie, Waseem say Naseem, Adnan bhai ki leveli CP, Shanza ki imaginary LP, Aqeeda say Aqida, Bilal and the Dabo dass... In short I don't want to leave this place.

Those two years that I thought would never end; I don't know how quickly they passed. It was indeed the best part of my life.

Bhal, will always remember you standing up for us in the middle of the worst presentation in the history of FRA. - Aina
These two years of MBA life were a combination of countless khabas, aimless nighters, lot of rung (i am awesome at it), midnight crazy plans, listening to Rao’s explanation of world phenomenon’s (which is a good time pass), bearing classmate CPs, indulging in fake scholarly arguments, having a few moments of eureka where I actually learned something new and valuable, getting worried after missing CP in six to eight sessions, checking undergrad chicks (I was not alone in it) and concluding that quality of fair sex in Lums is on a constant decline, starting assignments after half of the allocated time had passed “punctuated equilibrium” is the word for it and feeling super happy on completing them on time, planning before start of every term that this time I will study regularly and then managing it to do for few days, putting room in order at the start of every term and committing that it will stay the same, discussing latest developments in the batch with gossip guys and most importantly cultivating some friendships that will outlive the knowledge that I have gained here.

LUMS MBA!....aaahhh, I never imagined that LUMS MBA would be so different from my bachelor's at LUMS, a whole new world!! It has been like a rollercoaster ride, with many ups and downs, happy, sad, depressed and angry moments, LP tensions, group dynamics, new people, weird people (P), all kinds of people, best friends, misunderstandings, and what not! But I would just say that these two years were totally worth it; changed my life, gave me confidence, brought me closer to the 'real' world and gave me some of the most precious moments, people and memories of my life :)

The exchange program made the parthia part easier, and gave me the chance to fulfill my desire for traveling and explore new places; LUMS MBA has given me MUCH more than it has taken away from me in these two years, and I am going to miss it and all of you!! Best of Luck to everyone for their future life and I hope to remain in touch with everyone LUMS. I will still miss you even after 7 years, can never have enough of you :)

One of my closest friends in LUMS. An amazing person and a wonderful friend. Had a great time this past couple of years with you and the gang... Thanks for everything... Harris. Humaira, often are the times I used to sit and wonder how a person like you exists in the LUMS MBA program. The nicest, sweetest, most helpful person in the batch. Always be happy and Allah bless you! - Aina Maria Waseem. Very rarely you find people who could tolerate me and be nice to me. Although you are more annoying than me in every aspect but still I have enjoyed quite a lot with you. And yes ofcourse you are Painful... Thanks for being there bestie :). Umair. She can go extra 100 miles to help you. Lucky to find another best friend :) Amazing Cook and it was a memorable time including small hurdles and fights. p. Best of luck for your future endeavors and prosperous life ahead.

MBA would have been boring without her. No wonder there were no birthday celebrations when she was on exchange. -- Atique.

You brought everyone together from the start of the LUMS journey! Stay Happy Humz!! - Jaffer.

One of the nicest and sweetest person of the batch who is humble and sensitive about other people. I have learned whole lot from you in last two years than any other person. I pray that God bless you with loads and loads of happiness and success and may your all dreams come true. - Armeen - Arfa Khadija.

Thank you Humaira for being you. You have made me a happier person. May Allah grant you all the blessing in the world (Amin) - S. Muneer.

One of the most wonderful people I will ever know. Apart from her well known fear of cats (oops! P) and yearning for moesta (brownies, cakes, tiramisus!), she's an absolute joy to be around! And her selfless support for friends like me will be one of the brighter memories that I will take forward from these last two years. :) - Moom. Besides her fear of cats (P) & love for moesta (macaroons, tiramisu etc.), she's one of the most wonderful people I will ever know - Mamun.

Humz! LUMS wouldn't have been the same without you. You have been my partner in crime, my best friend, my tutor, my gossip partner, and most of all my support system all! Thank you for always being there for me as a sister I could count on always! Always stay the same! :) - Zeeshan Sohail.

I'm sure she's gotten a testimonial from literally EVERYONE in the batch. She's just that good a human being. On the other hand, she can deal with a mean older-sister-scolding if you land on her bad side. I doubt I'll get a spot on your yearbook page, but just wanted you to know that you're my respect and it will always be an honor to be your friend. - Zeeshan Sohail.

2 years of fast forward: Quickly sad and then almost at the same rate I have converted into a happy puppy. I studied to the point I felt drunk and said weird things, I danced to a point I felt I will fall but I was so at home, I laughed till everyone thought I will explode, I sometimes cried too but who cares about that. I literally lived in the reading room, I doodled on the DR walls, I sat in Jammin and craved for their fries almost daily, I felt at peace in classes and hence I never really felt like speaking, but I learnt - so much. A few years from now I might not remember any of the details, and I might even start forgetting names, and I might not even feel the same. But I was here, I was alive, and I was a part of so many lives and they were a part of mine.

I remember the SOP time when seeing all the excel geeks I used to regret coming to LUMS for my MBA. Though many people may find it hard to believe, the entire first semester I dreaded about the possibility of LPs. My two year journey at LUMS has been anything but smooth, though it made me learn a lot, the most important thing being 'live life today and to the fullest but never lose sight of the end'. LUMS has given me some very best moments of my life that I would remember till the end and some very good friends such as Fawad, Mahvish, Hareem, Sana Zahra, Sana Makhdooom, Zaid and Moeed, that I want to remain in touch all my life.

P.S. I despise PDC to the core, being a resident of dorms it proved to be quite difficult and expensive for me to avoid PDC for two years but I am glad I made it.
USMAN JAVED

Yes, there are a few similarities between Miley Cyrus's wrecking ball and the LUMS MBA program. First is the sheer amazement that you survived through it all and the second is that overtime it starts to grow on you. At MBA they may fool people into thinking that SOP stands for the summer orientation program, but truth be told it's actually JSP, for that's all I did during the first SOP week. It was one fine day when I fell asleep while offering the Juma prayer during the SOP that the true meaning of scarcity actually dawned on me. Never had I imagined myself sleeping on the uncomfortable lab-2 chairs or the LUMS mosque. But yes by that time I had finally understood the meaning of scare and had begun to improve.

Words such as synergies, competitive advantage and customervalue proposition that had once seemed alien to me slowly started becoming a part of my dictionary. Despite the much despised cramming of cases, from Tokyo's Benihana to Army crew sports team, the LUMS MBA has been a rollercoaster ride for me. From throwing up at places to enjoying the adrenaline rush of the ride, it indeed has been an unforgettable experience for me. As melodramatic as it may sound, I do feel deeply indebted to my entire MBA batch without whom this MBA experience wouldn't have been worthwhile.

Here is to all the sleepless nights, torturous SOP, dhaba ops, last minute submissions, puke bench adventures, dr debates, group study sessions, jammin fries, random nighters, unsuccessful dieting and gyming plans, crazy party in europe, reading room wailiyan, baby doll and hukkah bar, jam shouting in sdsb, endless gossips, gay hostel encounters, zakir tikka, discussing life philosophy which made no sense, parking lot sessions, 3 girls sleeping on one bed in dorms, taking crazy selfies under Eiffel Tower, whtsapping in class, Ehsan ul haq's jokes and all the people I met because the world will never be square again!

“Enjoy the little things in life, one day you will realize they were big things”. This is one the things I learnt from my friends at LUMS.

After a long professional career, I got the opportunity to study as MBA student at SDSB-LUMS. I can never forget life at LUMS because it not only added value academically but also changed my personality. I learned the ability to believe in myself. Having educational background from government school system and competing with students from best educational institutes of the country was really challenging but SOP training strengthened my belief that “Nothing is impossible”. Despite some bitter experiences, DR system is really appreciable because it gives opportunity to discuss your ideas with other group members.

My experience as MBA exchange student at KOC University, Istanbul was a life changing event of my life. I appreciate the efforts of my friends and teachers in shaping my personality and behavior. It was only possible with the blessings of Almighty Allah, prayers of my family and support of my class fellows”.

Some believe life should come with a rewind forward and a pause button. I agree. Life’s settings menu could benefit a whole lot more with a “get successful” button but then how would we have all these business schools? Truth be told, life comes with all sorts of settings but focus, control and determination is what drives the whole equation. I am taking from this MBA program at LUMS some of the richest treasures. An ability to converge my strengths, overcome weaknesses whilst tackling pressures with fresh perspectives. I have met some of the most finest minds the liveliest personas here. Thankfully my write up was written by Aina Maria. Here it is word by word.

"Ye bohot Sangeen masla hai... Aap to baray Rangeen hain aapka naam Sangeen kyun hai?" My batch mates surely associate these two years with hard work, CPs, LPS and standard deviation, but for me it has been only about quips regarding my name. As if all this hadn't sufficiently gotten to me, last semester arrived and suddenly two persons answering to the name of Aina Maria Waseem and Arfah Khadija decided to start pestering me to write something for my page in the yearbook. They thought they would succeed in extracting something from me eventually, and to that end they tried many tactics: they praised my writing skills, called me a nice person, said they admired my efficiency, and basically extolled me to heights even I hadn't imagined. However, Sangeen is not called Sangeen for nothing. He doesn't rest easy till the lives of people around him have become completely "sangeen".

SANGEEN: IainaAARFAH: 0

Congratulations to me, as they have finally agreed to write this on behalf. Now I will talk about my time at LUMS. Apart from the occasional irritants, like the one mentioned above, I have passed through my MBA like a hot knife through butter. I took the route of doing well enough in the first semester to escape to France for the third where I basically did nothing but upload picture evidence of my tourism on Facebook while my fellow students at Lahore were cursing LUMS as usual. Lastly, my friends, a dictum for a true MBA: "never do yourself what someone else can do for you"

While working on Excel for dummies with a fast and with less than three hours of sleep per day, SOP at LUMS made me reconsider my decision of doing my MBA at the rate of over 10 times per the excel question. But in retrospect, I would re-live these 2 years again and again. The crazy DRs, senseless CPs, endless laughsters, last minute WAC submissions, Zakir ki karahi, Reading room ki Taash, Dangal practices, Anmol ki chaat, Mill's & Escue's room, Qamar's routine, Zain's arguments, Rafay's uncouth behavior, Hamny K's fishy silence, Osama's laugh, Batman's sleep, Waseem's CPs, Legend's pait, and Hareem's CP support to save me from LPs, all make me dread the day when we all close the LUMS chapter and move on. But, I have met the best people of my life here, made the best of friends, and have added countless memories in my system, which will keep reminding me about how lucky I have been to be a part of "LUMS MBA 2014".

You are always good company and not as "inconsiderate" as "some" perceive you to be-

In my opinion, LUMS MBA program is by far the best MBA program being offered in Pakistan and during the course of my exchange semester at CBS, Denmark, I realized that the program is as good as any MBA program offered by a top ranked international business school. Level of competence, commitment and motivation of its faculty is a source of inspiration for all participants. The program greatly helped me develop my analytical capabilities and gain valuable insight into different functional areas of business such as Marketing, Finance, Operations and HR. Combination of DRs, relative grading system and a diverse student body challenged values of different participants and ensured that we cooperated and competed with each other at the same time. The hectic workload enabled us to stretch our limits, realize our true potential and get ready for challenges ahead. I believe that my prior business education (BBA), work experience and on campus accommodation played to my advantage specially during the first year. I thank my colleagues, friends and professors for making my LUMS MBA a truly enriching experience.

MBA from LUMS ..... Gosh has been a hell of a ride: ruthlessly competitive, tiring, relentless and routines often taking their toll on personal health but nevertheless the rigors of MBA from LUMS were worth it after all. I always wanted to do MBA after engineering; preferably from LUMS, and was fortunate enough to end up at LUMS at second attempt. However to be honest I wasn’t really prepared mentally and physically for the “raghra” that was on offering partly because I had settled into the corporate culture (08 Year) and going back to school wasn’t easy at all.

The entire first year was a nightmare with a sword of LPs and possible separation from program constantly hanging over my head; nevertheless I managed to get through the first year. Summer vacations after almost a decade were exciting in addition to the respect and admiration I got being a LUMS student during the internship was heartening and worth the troubles and rigors of SDSB, LUMS.

The historical episode with Dr. Ghufran is an event worth remembering where I was at the receiving end of his wrath albeit having only smiled to actions from classmates. The best part was when Ghufran Sir told me in his office: “smart wo hai jo pakra na jaye.” (Key Take away for life folks !!!!)

It’s an ideal opportunity to thank all those who stood by me through thick and thin, highs and lows of LUMS. It wouldn’t have been possible for me to be here without their unconditional support and encouragement. (Fantastic Five & Band of Brothers) The faculty was absolutely fabulous and helpful; especially Sir Khalid Mirza and Dr. Arif Rana. I ended up taking so many courses from Sir Khalid that colleagues have started calling me MBA in Khalid Mirza. I wish everyone from MBA – 2014 all the best in their lives and for their future endeavors. May Allah bless all of us with success and happiness in our lives.

Qazi bhai, thank you for the memorable trip to and back from Islamabad. Will remember.MHAB
"I hate MBA people", was my first expression at the beginning of professional life in 2003. These were days of my tests and interviews for job after graduation (engineering), where I frequently came across HR people (MBA people). They were so irritating (especially my experience with ICI recruitment drive) that I couldn't digest the role of MBAs in our hiring, which I thought was the sole prerogative of technical people.

But I don't know how after 10 years I am a part of that fraternity. For me MBA is indeed a lifetime experience, which has totally reshaped my perspective about everything...

I don't know how this journey took place but it wasn't easy. Everything went well but for this my wife and kids offered lot of sacrifices and without their support, it wasn't possible. Thank you Sana, Abdullah & Baraera!

At LUMS my first nightmare was the letter P. For a person who tries every possible way not to sPeak, has to... due to LP, CP, 4Ps... Then with every passing day, things become easier and easier. I am confident that our old friends who decided their own to left the program, if continued this journey, would have been writing this year book.

And a confession! Instead of famous quote I heard here, "With engineering background, accounting, finance etc. is very tough..." I think otherwise that we have made one plus one equal to eleven, best of two worlds. And hats off for our finance guys who tried their best to make sure "LP in accounting and finance is evitable but we will not let anybody to get U". Thank you LUMS for stretching me to my limits...

At the twilight of two years, that started with the heating and beaing of Dr. Jamshed in SOP with the caution, do not try to make sense out of things that don’t make any sense; is now golden part of my life. Apart from some great teachers, all the learnings and usual deadlines for WAC and assignments that forced us to work round the clock for last minute submission, I have made new friends, had a mutfa trip to Karachi (courtesy of Indus Motors and LMEC), enjoyed the hostel life without any allotment (LUMS refused to allot me any room in hostel), missed two friends who opted out of the program (both happened to be from my DR), hated and loved PDC food, enjoyed the H Block food and gathering, admired the LUMS Masjid, cursed the new year students for their wrong parking, learned to live with people of opposing views, and tried to balance LUMS with personal life. My daughter, who was born during the first month of first semester, pulled that balance towards herself as she grew up along with MBA. But all this life changing experience would not have been possible without the support of my family, specially my wife who stood beside me throughout the period and accommodated her SOKAN (she has named LUMS my second wife) – thank you Saima. LUMS has changed so much in me that life will never be the same again after LUMS.

MUNEEB KHADIM

When I was asked during the interview why I wanted to come to LUMS, I said that I was not a risk taker and that I wanted to have the optimism required for bold decision making. LUMS equipped me with exactly that. When you’re put in a pressure cooker situation with a hundred brainiacs, it compels you to build on your strengths and make peace with your weaknesses. This higher degree of self-awareness made me more confident and humble at the same time.

The thing about being an extrovert is when you’re asked to describe your experiences, they are always connected to the people you are surrounded with. My two years at LUMS are full of incredible and unforgettable stories, owing to the wonderful people that were around me. I hope these friendships last a lifetime and we all get to see our dreams fulfilled.

Cool with a capital K. He has the looks, the smarts and the swag to get any girl he wants (if only he would) one of the greatest regret in my life is that I didn't really get a chance to fraternize with him :( My man crush <3

I think you always brought a whole new perspective in any discussion which were enlightening. You did frighten us all on that photoshoot day with your angry looks and we did fall for that prank :P but that didn't stop us from bugging u. Keep Rocking ~Arfa Khadija my best friend at LUMS! You and Muneeb sat next to me in the SOP and I loved it when you two gave rebellious comments! ~Aina Maria Waseem

If I'm ever reincarnated, I'd want to be Wali Sheikh! The person in the batch I truly admire and respect without any reservations. ~Aqida

I've spent more time with you in the last two weeks than all the time spent with you during the rest of the MBA programme put together. And that is all it takes to know what an amazing person you are! Faizan
AINA MARIA WASEEM

“Sir the fact of the matter is that the unique value proposition of the company’s product has been diluted by the entry into the market of new players and in view of this fact the decisions that need to be taken and the actions that need to be implemented under the best judgment of the most experienced managers who have the confidence of the CEO himself should be done with due consideration and when the actual decision is taken, in view of what we have discussed so far, I think they need to remember that it should solve the problem of falling revenues. In fact, and considering everything that has been said so far and ever in this course or the whole of MBA, the situation is dire indeed and there is definitely a problem to be solved within this VERY case Sir!”

Whooa! Wait let me just say it in one line:
"The company needs to develop brand revitalization strategies immediately!"

I know I know, if that really was all there was to it, why make such a long bow? Don’t ask!
Sarcasm apart, and in strictly MBA language, LUMS added great value. It gave me maturity, a holistic world view, confidence, and above all, patience and forbearance. Here I learnt to be happy under pressure. Here I learnt to work with the most difficult people, here I started to conquer my lack of initiative, and here also, I met some of Pakistan’s most brilliant minds!

Most Effective CR of the batch - Adnan

Hello Khurram,
despite your religious orientation I never felt difficulty in talking to you... I thank you for being nice towards me... Stay blessed. Regards, Shanza

Lots of fun to talk to. One day when we're old,
I'll call you for a leisurely game of golf, and let you win. Walli

Don't let the beard fool you. Us ke peechay bohat bari cheez hai. Still, naali mamli honay ke baawajood bohot aala banda hai. Plus, he owns Turkey (the country). So that's always a plus. Owning a country...Sheehryar Sohail Muzammil

Became solid and close friends during our tour de Pakistan while interning at Monsanto. An amazing and knowledgeable person with a forward attitude. Golf is his only passion...Haaris

Kind, humble and friendly. It was always fun talking to and working with you.
Wish you success Fawad

P.S. It was really difficult sometimes to decipher your jokes because you would crack them with a poker face
The time at LUMS was certainly the most amazing one! Met all sorts of crazzy (cool) people; saw some extraordinary examples of free riders ;), awesomely creative minds, loving and caring kind, wittiest ones and some odd ones! :p

I must say it was the “CULTURE & TRUST” between the batch mates that gave a worthy ROI for me :)

Just hope all my fellows have a happening and wonderful life ahead that is filled with “gut feel” and “passion”. "Just never leave money on the table" and remember "conflict is sometimes good for us".

Baki i want to highly appreciate the support and love my friends have given me and sincerely apologize for being an ass a few times to some people :)

Salute to MBA 2014!

Some say his favorite pastime is skipping, and he can't be photographed with a digital camera. Some say he knows two facts about women, and both of them are wrong. Some say it's impossible for him to wear socks, and he can open a beer bottle with his beard. Some say he survived 9/11 after jumping from the top floor, and he can communicate with cats. Some say he naturally faces Mecca, and he has two sets of knees. Some say his beard is made of carbon fiber... and that his blood is 1 part petrol and 2 part diesel. Some say he can be a stubborn negotiator, and the way to his heart is through his stomach. ... All we know is, he's called the Dibz.

LUMS has been an amazing journey, right from being terror stricken in SOP to being care-free in later days, from a silent spectator to a noisy participant, from a loner to party person; it truly has been an amazing transformation for me. This place gave me a space to grow and explore the limits of my existence and helped in unleashing the true side of my existence. Apart from LUMS terrorizing MCs, assignments, intolerable long CPs, nighters, MCs, punctuated equilibrium, etc., LUMS provided me with an opportunity to acquaint with diverse people and make some really good lifelong friends. Even though we all as students have lot to complain about faculty, facilities (not to mention the auditoriums in basements where one could literally hear toilet water being flushed or sewage water seeping through the ceilings...yuck), but deep down LUMS have grown over us. These last few days have made us all realize how much we all are going to miss this place and the memories linked with those. On the endnote, LUMS it has been pleasure knowing you and your taming tactics.. P and above all its been HONOR KNOWING YOU ZEESHAN FOURTEEN, I hope we can all make this bond long-lasting.
LUMS and luminitas you’ll be missed big time!!
Cheers!

We always want to escape from our present but when it becomes past we always miss that period of our life, same holds true for this MBA experience.

First of all, I want to give credit to my parents and siblings who really helped me during this journey, fraught with thorns. MBA is a strange experience as it exposes both your strengths and weaknesses that you are not aware of. The most useful thing that I learnt here is to keep myself motivated even in the most desperate situation.

I am really indebted to my batch-mates for making this part of my life so memorable. This journey is full of learning, fun and some bitter memories as well. It is really hard to choose among the instructors to mention here. However, Zahoor, Zahid Ali and Juttaid Ashraf are the most impressive ones.

The only regret I have is that I should have started socializing a little earlier to make this journey more memorable.
Life at LUMS--- Physical and Cultural Shocks

Earning my degree from LUMS is a portrait mostly of guile rather than a chronicle of mystifying galore of hard work and commitment. This memoir recounts my experiences of dealing not with friends, foes, or individuals but a diverse cast of characters—I myself was branded by Qazi Sahib as “chukri”. The CP syndrome was all about imperfection of beauty, madness of a genius and “it’s better to be ridiculous than absolutely boring.”

I always knew that I wasn’t born to follow nor was I sure if I was born to lead; but after LUMS MBA I’m certain that I am born to fight through all odds and to win.

What does it mean to be the best at LUMS? You just have to be better than 8 guys in the class to enjoy utmost gratification of the soul.}

So much for serious talk!!

Let me narrate the most embarrassing incident of these two years: I decided to align myself somewhat with the “YEO” culture of LUMS by buying a smart mobile. With a glowing smile I entered the IT Desk in the LAB and asked the guy on the counter to get my cell in sync with the campus mail and Wi-Fi. Meanwhile a beautiful undergrad girl entered and stood by me. Lo and behold!! The guy across the counter asked me my Password and unknowingly I said, “D-e-s-i-b-a-b-a”.

The girl stared at me.....

It started with SOP: the phase of UTTER confusion. Many a times had I thought to just run away from the scary world in which JAM existed but the universe had some other plans for me... Oh I still remember those sleep-deprived nights of Ramadan, but I survived that heating-and-beating stage and in the process lost a few pounds (Much to my delight :p). Then there was that first year in which teachers like mobi and ehsan cracked us, and the second year in which I somehow managed to crack the system :) Yet the entire process left me feeling grateful for being a part of this unique experience. I learned a lot and thoroughly enjoyed each day that I spent at LUMS. Every class in that u-shaped auditorium was an experience in itself! So yes it has been one hell of a ride and I enjoyed every bit of it =)

"Rull Tay gay Ain, par chass Bari ayi avy" - I think this statement “holistically” defines LUMS MBA, in a way only a LUMS MBA can understand. In short, it’s been tough, but a lot of fun. I think I have finally started to understand “tough love”, and learned to find 36 Hours in a day. But it certainly would not have been this good without the people around me. I love how the batch has gelled together, and how I always found help whenever needed. MBA 2014, You are AMAZING!

LUMS. Four letters. Two years. One magnificent building that takes you on a wild roller coaster ride with absolutely ZERO minutes to spare. At the end of which you come out transformed in ways you can't even tell. That my friends, is LUMS MBA. [pause]

Totally worth it! Every bit. Every second. No, I don't like inflicting pain upon myself or others (what is wrong with you?!). Let's just say this is probably what I wanted. Something solid. Something promising. Something that's invariably and perpetually awesome. This journey is filled with countless amazing memories that will always stay unforgettable. The best part consists of the teachers, the buildings, the trees, the falling autumn leaves, the refreshing breeze, the yellow lights that illuminate the campus at night, the grass fields, the events (that I wish I had attended).

Yes, all of them!), the content that I got to read, the coffee, the Vanilla Oreo shake and the unprecedented feeling that this is the place where tolerance and reason prevail and everyone is allowed to be themselves without fear or hesitation or shame and 'out-of-the-box' thinking is considered normal, in fact pretty impressive and that too by a generation a lot older than ours. Strangely, LUMS reminds me of LGS and like that institution I will always stay indebted to it for being a beacon of hope for a society and a country that's plagued with incessant mayhem. For being a haven of sanity. For staying true to its values and not letting anything or anyone influence it.

I hope u stay the same LUMS because we want you to or more importantly we need you to. I hope I am able to join in and contribute to your cause in anyway. Until then here's a toast to good times, brilliant minds, creative intellect and a bright beaming future insallah. Au revoir!

The LUMS MBA was a roller coaster ride in every sense of the word. A place where you live under a constant, unyielding pressure of assignments, exams, grades, and internships. Yet, it also provided me with memories that I will cherish for the rest of my life and friends that I can count on. The tale of the LUMS MBA would be incomplete without the exploits of the Khaba/Gossip gang (Bilal, Shahji, Prince Zaid, Masi Umar, Mirza, Wicky, Pashto, Abid, Timmy, Zee and all other sas-tayz). The overworked nighters dotted with drives to h-block (which somehow end up leading to Butt Karahi in Lakshmi Chowk). When I was thrown into the furnace of SOP, I would never have suspected that in two years’ time I would exit loving and owning JAM’s famous “Heating & Beating” process. Yet here I am today, about to have the country’s best degree in my hand and ready to take on the world.

I have known you for nine damn years and still with each passing day I discover something new and more scandalous about you. With a friend like you, life can be anything but not boring, Bilal.

Let's be clear about this. I never wanted to go to LUMS. I was set in my routine at work; providing mobile signals to the masses. When normal people get admission in LUMS, it's one of the happiest moments of their lives. But when I got in, I was terrified. The only reason I gave the admission test was so that my parents would stop bugging me. Lekin ab to admission ho gaya, so I had to take the plunge. I thought I would never be able to survive in the toughest program of the country, full of the biggest thetas in the land. What business did I have as a lousy telecom engineer, to go head-to-head with the most brilliant minds of the generation? When the program started though, I realized that all my fears were unfounded. My fellow students were not the epitome of the human condition after all. They were normal human beings and they loved to party just as much as me. So party we did. The past 2 years have been an absolute blast as I got to know this magnificent group of people from all sorts of different backgrounds. We laughed, we learned and we grew together. The people I met, and the experiences I had at LUMS have made me a better person in every way (except for the fact that I'm even thinner now) and I thank each and every one of you guys for making this time of my life so special. Though we will go our separate ways, the party will continue.

Duckzilla - a bit too optimistic - but a great company.

Funny guy. Still remember that presentation where you talked to yourself. Out of the box. - Hamid

"I don't have any social life" was my answer to Dr. Ehsan during my admission interview in response to the question, tell me about your social life in Egypt. The same moment Dr. Ehsan laughed and said welcome to the club. In first semester of MBA I realized the importance of the asked question and the worth of my answer, more than perfect reply for LUMS MBA Admission interview. "LP" was like a death sentence for me in first semester. My roommate was quite irritated from my approach and with his support and EXPERIENCE I did first semester without this medal. Exchange semester in Australia, made me believe that I did some thing good in my life, 5 full courses with only 2 days of classes and without putting much efforts Marilyn Jones Award was not a bad deal. As pointed out by great Philosopher that I only study in odd semesters, I don't have any thing to share from 2nd ad 4th semesters because who cares in long run, as Arif Rana said, "5, 10 years from today, you will be least concerned about the outcome of these exams.

Being a textile professional, yes I spent most of my time in LUMS on things that didn't add value to my career. But the legendary faculty, the people I met, the friends I made, the way LUMS MBA made me think about life, makes me 120% positive that LUMS MBA has been the right decision.

TESTIMONIALS

"Ma best buddy, a bit tooo straight forward but a true friend indeed:) Highly talented, always ready to go and have all of the apple products :)" - Faizan

"Too bad we never spent that much time together but I know we would've been great friends if I had. I love your honesty and simplicity." - Faizan

"I only study in Odd (1st and 3rd) semesters! "a sentence that best describes you. Even semesters are passed on impression management. you are extremely efficient. One of the best friends I made in LUMS."

"One of my dearest friends and missed hanging out when he was in Australia. Overall a great guy." - Haaris

"Keep earning Marilyn Jones Awards and doing Pakistan proud! :D"

"I've been friends with Danish since the SOP and I've come to know what a valuable friend he is. He is a good listener with all the qualities you'd want in a friend. Danish apparently seems very laid-back and quite but if you really know this guy you will know what a great sense of humor he possesses and whenever we get together we have a great time with lots of laughter. He is the kind of person who is always willing to go the extra mile to help the other person without boasting or expecting anything in return. It is my sincere wish that we remain friends for the rest of our lives."
MAMUN RASHEED

Waiting for my MBA interview on that hot April afternoon in 2012, I barely knew what I was signing up for. After all, I had only recently decided to give the admission process a shot and then plan for a new chapter in my life. Nevertheless, once I was through I had no choice but to say yes! And thus began a hell of a rollercoaster ride. From the hard grind during the SOP to the almost surreal relaxed environment of Semester IV, it was a journey made special by many great moments. I will never forget those notoriously hilarious DR sessions and classes from the first year! Nor will I forget the amazing experience of going on student exchange to ISB only to return back to join my batch buddies for one final hurrah.

This tale would be incomplete without mentioning my friends for had it not been for them, I would have never made it through those difficult initial few months and even later when we had it all figured out. It is to them that I owe my sanity (or what’s left of it!) and optimism which will hopefully propel me to greener pastures for many years to come. And if I were to ever have the opportunity to re-live these last 22 months, I wouldn’t change the script one bit!

TESTIMONIALS

"Mein-moonnnn: my chit chat partner!! The most tension free friend in my whole group, always by my side, helping me, listening to me and a great friend indeed... May you get all that you want in life :)" – Humaira

"Good luck with the gyms! Hope you find what you're looking for, professionally and personally :)" – Jaffar

"As much as I would like to go on here about what a phenomenal pain in the a you are, I can't help but mention what a great friend you have been. I am truly glad to have met you." – S. Muneeb

"Mamun you have a heart of gold! You are compassionate, genuine, smart and you can always be counted on to listen and provide support when needed. You have the ability to see any situation in a positive sense except the cricket matches. =P You're truly a lifetime friend.” – Nayha K.

"Will always remember his "exactly, sir...yes, sir...but..." CPs, this guy should be a politician. Also the full nights we spent on many of our projects, this guy has a 90:10 facebook:work ratio, ticked me off to no end! Not to mention our dining out sessions and all the laughs we had on his expense, he's a real sport. It was a pleasure spending time with you, buddy." – Zeeshan Sohail

"A gem of a person and also a little funny at times. A great friend to hang around with... Thanks for everything man!" – Haaris

"A nice guy, who, despite his big biceps wouldn't hurt a fly. A strong contender for the nicest guy in the batch." – Walli

END OF LINE
LUMS MBA is one of the greatest chapters in my life. It would always shine as a gem in my inventory of worthwhile experiences. LUMS had a great faculty, infrastructure, environment etc., but the best thing were my fellow batch mates. Directly or indirectly, I have learnt a lot from all of them. It was their extraordinary abilities and competitive nature that pushed me to work harder and brought the best out of me. I learnt to never underestimate anyone as each and every batch mate I had was a legend in his own right. Thank you LUMS, Thank you MBA 2014 for this beautiful time. I am going to miss this for a very very long time to come.

"I never expected to have so much fun with you in our FYP group. Its unfortunate not many people know that side of you. You are an inspiration the way you have maintained a balance between the MBA and your family." Faizan

"Larakaa Tayyaraaa :P" Gul

"Dekho gussa insaan ko khatam kar deta hai.... gussa nahi..be a defencia like Azm"

"Stylish aadmi." Wali
"...nothing short of a roller coaster ride."

Time stops momentarily as one takes the final steps of a grueling, yet rewarding journey. Before you, all the burden seems to vanish in an instance. Recollections and reflections sweep in. Time stops because past suddenly becomes the present as you rejoice the moments gone by; moments that are now blessed and illustrious. Past becomes a luxury. There is a sigh of relief; but relief comes at a cost of having to part ways with the way of life you are so used to; the way of life which you have come to cherish for two years.

When past becomes the present, future becomes a gloomy proposition. But each one of my learning moments at LUMS has been about preparing me for the future. It has all been about facing future tides. But to me past will always be the present because without its learnings and wisdom there is no going forward.
Hello Fellow Islamabad-ian,
It was nice knowing you... Good luck :)

Had so many laughing fits
Since most of my time at LUMS was spent pissing others off, I'd like to take this opportunity to wipe the slate clean. So:

Mahwish, I'm sorry about that. I truly am. Believe me.
Nehan, I'm sorry about the countless times I pissed you off. It's a testament to your greatness that you forgave me every time.
Aqida, I'm sorry about......well you know what.
Sana, I'm sorry for hiding your slippers in class.
Fawad, I'm sorry about mocking you after that presentation.
Usman, I'm sorry about openly ridiculing your CPs in class, and best of luck for your wedding.

Faraz, I'm sorry for completely screwing you in that OB Negotiation Exercise.
Abdul Moeed, I'm sorry for not inviting you to that dinner.
Timi, I'm sorry for not inviting you too.
Abid, I'm sorry for using bad language in front of you.
Shoaib Bhai, I'm sorry for forgetting your name.
Salman Bhai, I'm sorry for my FYP failings. I tried.

Shahrukh, I'm sorry for not thanking you enough for all you did for me in Karachi. I'll always remain indebted.

Millwala, I'm sorry I couldn't take you to your favorite place – the Lahore Zoo.
And Wali, I'm sorry for not buying a smartphone or joining Facebook, and making your life difficult in the process.
I hope you all forgive me.

TESTIMONIALS

Beneath the frosty exterior is a person who would probably kill for his friends. So it's advisable to be his friend. Or at least not to piss off one of his friends.

In a fight between Chuck Norris and Faraz Akbar, I'd put my money on Faraz Akbar. ~RS

He's famous for many things, but what many would never know, he was easily the best storyteller of the batch...

His Santro and Nokia Sirocco will be featured in the museums year from now. The display will also include some Cuban cigars, Italian opera memorabilia and some polo merchandise.

It's an honour to know you, mio amico.

It was a life changing experience for me to leave my job and join LUMS for MBA Program. It turned out to be more difficult than what I was expecting but in the end I pray that Allah rewards me with the hard work I put in my MBA. This program taught me that there is nothing above commitment. Pressure handling and working in extreme conditions is what we are prepared for. The program helped me find the newer side of myself. Not only this through MBA program I got the opportunity to study with students from 60 different nationalities on my exchange program that completely changed my horizon. The friends I made here will stay with me forever, though the teaching method is something I am against but still to go with the flow is what was taught to us and this is what we followed in these two years. Hope to stay connected with all I met here and benefit from the learning and skills I attained in this program.

“His presence in any gathering spice things up through his witty side”. – Arfa Khadija
LUMS was a wonderful experience. The two years not only provided a chance for self reflection and to connect with oneself better, but also offered an opportunity to rub shoulders with some very talented people. The life lessons learnt during the time far outweighed the knowledge gained from extensive readings. LUMS was a roller coaster ride. The ebb and flow of emotions was tantalizing at times, but was fulfilling nonetheless. From the Heating and Beating of SOP to the all-nighter WACs, from pulling off epic Dabba CPs to always proudly landing in the fourth quartile, hardly a flavor was missed. The overwhelming madness punctuated with amazing fun will always be a source of delight. We will soon part ways, but not before filling ourselves with the joy of spending this priceless time together. The friendships cultivated during the time will always stay with us.

And when I look back
When someone says its name
At times when I was here
All memories running in a spinning frame...
When the nights became endless
And the dawn did not arrive
It took all from me
To muster my inner drive
When my armor became frail
And I started to lose heart
When hopes did not whisper
And my eyes feared the dark
There were a few who rescued me
From letting it all go
With them, I feared not
For whatever life had to throw
Must of all, they built me up
Even if the system tried to tear me down
I came here feeling lost
But now I can say that I am found

I know further down is my destiny
There will be other dreams
There will be sun and there will be rain
This place gave me the strength to overcome the extremes
Life is just a ship of paper
For failing contemplations
And ships made of paper
Have no destinations

THE LAST TWO YEARS HAVE CERTAINLY BEEN A FITTING END TO AN EXCITING ACADEMIC JOURNEY IN LUMS WHICH STARTED IN 2006. NEVER THOUGHT MBA WOULD BE THIS FUN AND IT STARTED WITH GOING CRAZY SHAHID SHAHEED!! IN ORIENTATION WAC NIGHT. THE LAUGHTER FITS IN SOP AND WAC WITH MALAK AND KARACHI BOYS. THE LATE LATE GM MEETINGS AND DICOR'S "GANA SUNA DO NAA", THE BOYS EXCHANGE PROGRAM WITH SAAD'S "SIRRRR BARRI YADEIN WA BASTA HAIN SIRRRRR", THE DR DISCUSSIONS AND JAFFAR'S TUKK DEDICATION TO MUSIC. GLAD TO HAVE METCHA'ALL BATCHFELLAS!!..HOPE Y'ALL REMEMBER WASEEM IN YEARS TO COME. BEST LUCK AND KEEP LAUGHING :)

TESTIMONIALS:

Waseem Sattar. My old friend. 6 years we’ve studied together now, and I wouldn’t hesitate for a second to say that I’ve enjoyed each moment of your company. Even though our different sections and then you running off to Korea meant I couldn’t enjoy more time with you, I still cherish all the times we studied together, made fun of others and each other, and reminisced about how we’ve grown up together since the first time Omar introduced us. I say this now because, although we’ll hopefully continue to meet for a long time, this is probably the last time we’ve studied together. I made some new friends in the MBA, very good ones indeed. But I always knew that if I ever needed help, I’d always have your back. Whether I was preparing for an exam, a quiz, a case or whatever, if I got left behind, you’re the only one who would leave his own preparation to bring me up to speed. For this and for all the other reasons that are too long to list here, you’re the only one for whom I’ve made an effort to write a testimonial. Others see you more of as a funny and generally likeable guy. But I know you more to be a decent, trustworthy and kind man. And that, in the final analysis, is the highest compliment a man could give to a friend. - Faraz Akbar

Exceptionally talented in all departments of life, sitting with him in the second semester gave me the best time of my MBA. We have had the best of laughs, best of negative CPs, and the best of mutual despair in OM, and I would cherish that for a long time to come – Hamad

"Waseeeem! Gana suna do nai!!" Okay now, wipe that smirk off. Thank you for your endless singing on every occasion, off and on the stage. Thank you for introducing me to Yo Yo Honey Singh-ah. I am indebted to you for life. And most importantly, thank you for taking care of Nikko and Nikku like a mommy! - Aqida
These past two years have been the most definitive of my life, and for the most part I owe that to the company that I’ve had the privilege of enjoying through that time. You people are some of the most talented, competent and hardworking individuals that I have ever come across. It is has been an honor getting to know each and every one of you. The friendships that I have made and the relationships that I have fostered during this experience are ones that I hope I can sustain for a lifetime.

For the most part the past two years have had their toll on all of us, but we’re all here standing today at the cusp of graduating. For getting past those tribulations, and for all your efforts, I have nothing but the utmost respect; I congratulate you on a job well done!

Cheers to the time together we’ve spent,
Only we know, to us how much it meant!

ADITYAH SHAH

These two years at LUMS have been crazy, with its own share of ups and downs. LUMS gave me the best of friends, made me confident, taught me a lot about myself and life. When I look back, all I can think of is all the times we’ve all just sat, done something really stupid and just laughed about it. All I remember is how happy all the time I’ve spent with friends at LUMS has made me. I will cherish every moment of it. These have been the most memorable two years of my life and I thank everyone for making it so awesome.

For being the sanity to me recklessness, for being the vigor to my laziness, for being the voice of reason to my hasty and stupid decisions, for motivating me enough to pass my courses, for being ever ready to party and support me in my non-seriousness throughout these two years, for never judging me for not crying and eating all the time, for knowing me better than I do myself and for always noticing my emotional upheavals even when I don’t say it out loud - I love you! To us being the girl versions of Rehman and Sohaib - in opposite - and for finding each other! Let them keep guessing what went on in our room. MAHRIKH

ADDY - HOTNESS PERSONIFIED AND THAT CONTAGIOUS SMILE, WITHOUT YOU, MY SHOPAHOLIC NATURE WOULD HAVE BEEN INCOMPLETE. THANK YOU FOR ALWAYS READY TO LEND YOUR SHOULDER (PLUS THE CLOTHES, THE SHOES, THE JEWELRY) I AM COMING TO KARACHI FOR YOUR WEDDING - HAREEM

special day.”
Zeeshan Shaukat

“Ah, ha, ha, ha, stayin alive, stayin alive.
Ah, ha, ha, ha, stayin alive.” Rabia

“Crazy scene hai!” I’m a fan of your impromptu presentation skills. And in the last semester, I’m missing your signature last-15-minutes-CP.” Aqida
They say the friends you make here are 'forever' and cannot be replaced; friends at LUMS laugh together, compete together, celebrate together, heck, they even WEEP together. They know each other's scared face (read SOP), give-up face (read LP-fear), delirious face (read case with crazy numbers), game-face (read Dangal), and my favorite, batch-unity face (read all the events that have been organized together).

Sitting in a class filled with the most driven and intellectually dominant personalities in the first semester took its toll and made me doubt my place. However, clawing my way through, week by week, class-by-class and case-by-case, I was helped through the 'adversity' of it all.

So in the end, I am thankful for the mental torture, for the manic stress, and for the perpetual mental timebomb (which I realize now, was self-created), for it gave me in return, a lifetime of memories, lessons, mostly importantly, friendships.

The last two years have been nothing short of a rollercoaster ride. There were times when I felt I was at the top of the world and then there were times when I wanted to strangle myself. But at the end of the day, it is the moments that I shared with my friends that made this whole experience worthwhile. I'm sure 5 years down the road we won't even remember how many LPs we got but we would surely remember the crazy all-nighters we put in, the sprinting towards DSB when we knew we were late, the whispering by our neighbors when we had gotten a cold call, and those nerve-wracking last minute WAC submissions. These are the memories that will last forever. I wish I had spent more time with my batch mates, laughed harder at Waheed Iqbal's perverted jokes and been more at the receiving end of Jam's wrath. Surviving on the edge reminds you to be humble and that is what my key takeaway from this whole exercise is.

Thank you MBA '14 for all the awesomeness!
What started as a horrific shock in the form of SOP, turned into a roller-coaster ride full of learning, fun, hard work, diversity and friendships – in short a life-changing experience. What made this whole period even more meaningful and bearable were my friends who became a very important part of my life and were a constant source of support and inspiration for me. I cherish all of them and regard them highly for their support throughout this period. It has been the most memorable academic experience of my life, one that I would not even forget 5, 10, 20 years down the road, unlike Dr. Rana’s EXAMS. :)

One of my best friends and the most amazing person that I have come across. He’s been with me through all the hurdles including the torturous third semester. He is the friend that I am most happy and glad to have. An awesome person and wonderful friend. Thanks for everything man.. Haarls

Everytime I look at him, he’s smiling. Is it a creepy, serial killer type smile, or just a 'happy to see you' smile? Time will tell.
LUMS MBA has been a truly life-changing experience for me. It came at a time when I needed a change and a welcome change it was. Without any doubt it was a time when I gained the most in terms of my personal development. Many would say LUMS MBA strains each and every nerve of yours but it was anything but that in my case. I would never forget the sudden and endless bursts of laughter that I and my group of friends would engage in during classes which never made MBA even the slightest bit boring. These two years taught us the value of working smart instead of working hard and this is what I believe would propel us forward in our careers. LUMS MBA also taught us how to maintain a balance between being competitive and good team players and those that have perfected this art stand to benefit in future. Exchange Program was another period of my MBA that will remain with me forever for it was during this time that I learnt to adapt and survive independently while making some very fond memories. Being the last years of my university life, I will always cherish the memories gained during this time and for that I would always be grateful to all my friends that have helped shape them.

Uses course packs to prop up wobbly tables and chairs. Someone once told him course packs were to study. He laughed. You could bet even before the start of the semester that he will either miss or get late in at least 30% of the morning classes. And that his laugh would have the entire group in fits of laughter when working on a project. ~Atique
The only person to date who could belittle my laughter!!! :D- Hadi
There comes a point in your life and your career when you look to stretch your abilities and know-how by challenging yourself to improve your skill set; LUMS was a result of such a decision and Lo and Behold, two years gone and I am a "MBA" wohoooh!! Doing this MBA program full time required much dedication, hard work and sacrifice. However, if I had to start from the beginning, I would do it all over again. The benefits of the program substantially outweighed my sacrifices. I have been encouraged and trained to explore outside my comfort zone; I became more confident as a person and as a professional and have learned to face challenges head-on with creative approaches. One of my most valuable experiences was building relationships with my classmates during my time especially with my experiences as a hostelite. These relationships have given me a foundation of friends and colleagues that will boost my career and my personal life for years to come. This batch of individuals is one of thesmartest, brightest, friendliest and extremely competitive I have had the distinguished honor of spending time with and learning from! You guys rock, wishing you all the best for years to come.....

YOU'RE THE BEST!

The Malaysian Queen! very nice bandi and knows how to have fun :)
Hands down the most nicest person in the class. Youre out of this world nice. All the best- Faizan
Very sweet and very lively. These are just a couple of qualities among thousand other good ones that separates her from the rest. She's truly a gem of a person and she shines brighter that anyone else in the batch. Thanks for being my friend Nayha..Haaris
Neha the wise! Walli
"Tu cheez bari hai must must". Trust her to know all the cheesy songs. Atique
Malay girl! You be one of the most entertaining personalities I met here! Keep pointlessly laughing :D

One of the sweetest girl :) May God bless you~Arfa Khadija Neyha Kamran! (Neeehaw!! :P), You are a brilliant light in an other wise drab world. Thank you for being there!! ^_^ ~S. Muneeb
The perfect blend of a tomboy and the girl next door, she was a quintessential part of many of my favorite
LUMS moments. - Mamun
The closest female friend in MBA!!...My tension sharer, my gossip partner, happy to have met you and may this friendship last forever, wish all the best for both of us :) Love you "Hugs" - Humaira
An extremely fun-loving, hyper, funny, witty and caring person who walks like a penguin :p. In short, a complete gem of a person. I am glad to have made friends with you in LUMS. ~Osama.
Bestie......Shorty you are Sugar, Spice and everything Nice. :)~Farhan Shahid
I missed you when you were off to Malaysia :P Hareem
IRFAN YAQOOB

So these two years of my MBA, were filled with uncertainties, restlessness and distress yet this time was quite captivating as well as entertaining. As Sir Arif Rana always emphasized that people and culture can be the most important features of any organization and I believe LUMS stands out from the lot because of these features. It has the best faculty and attracts exceptionally talented and smart working students. MBA batch of 2014, especially, comprised of individuals that were multitalented, extremely helpful and modest. We all shared very good memories with each other and I shall always remember the time I spent with my batch mates. I hope that we all graduate on time inshAllah and settle into the jobs that we wished for. Good Luck to all of us for our future.

Fla
Flashing back when I completed my undergrad, I did not expect so many things that could possibly happen. If I were to describe my life at LUMS in one word, it would be; AMAZING. The whole batch is a bunch of most amazing people each of whom carries a unique attribute in itself. The SOP, welcome parties, farewell, clubs and societies and above all sense of achievement and self growth under pressure is what LUMS offered me. I found friends who are brothers and who made my experience at LUMS extremely pleasant. Above all, the most amazing part is my attachment with LUMS Marketing Executive Club through which I learnt a lot about people from all across Pakistan, the janitorial staff of SDSB and extremely cooperative LUMS administration. Gratitude's to the MBA batch of 2014, our faculty, MPO, PCO and above all to our parents and Allah for helping us become what we are now :)

Diplomatic to the very core, probably one of his best traits.
What a adorable person. Kudos on pulling off Colloquium and proving leaders can be cute. - Aqida
President Sahib laurels for your commitment and devotion, may it be an event or CP :P. Respect. -Arfa Khadija
Boy! Thanks for helping create one of our most memorable events, which will go down as the official coming out party of MBA Music - Jaffar
Saad Zaheer the champ! Pro event organizer and leader! Wali
 Gets all worked up from time to time.. But a nice person all in all—Haaris
Boy apna pir cha gaya hai!!! :D- Hammad Hadi
I know i use the word “amazing” very loosely at times but you are just that at so many levels. Youre a friend, an adviser and a remarkable person. Youre a born leader and I know that you do trust me but to improve you need to start trusting others as well. Probably not as much as I do. Youre the best. Stay Happy - Faizan
A true leader who knows how to effectively delegate tasks without letting people know ;) A very calm, caring, respecting person. LMEC was a great achievement for you, may Allah bless you with more. Mela cute bacha :)
LUMS pushed me beyond my comfort zone right from the first day and I think I will keep doing it now my-self for the rest of my life. Winning & Participating in competitions representing LUMS taught me that sometimes the simplicity of an ignorant is better than the caution of an expert and failure is a much better teacher than success.

My MBA 2014 batch mates are my family members for the rest of my life, each one of them taught me some important lessons about life, lessons that I wouldn't have learned otherwise in my entire life. Some of my inspirational faculty members made me re-chalk out many facets of my personality and made me realize the real meaning of the word “impact” and how to change lives standing on the floor of the class. All in all, this wonderful experience made me a completely re-done individual, an individual for whom MBA is no longer a money making tool but an obligation to pay back, an individual for whom studying with the very best is not an opportunity to maintain ascendancy but an oath to try hard to expand the size of the pie and finally an individual for whom studying at LUMS is no longer a matter of pride but a matter of responsibility.

MBA 2014, you guys are the game changers for this nation. Please stick to your 3H of Honesty, Hard work and Humbleness and you can sail this ship to the island through the turbulent waves.

OB Genius - Taimoor

Adnan bhai! It was a pleasure meeting you during the MBA! Keep in touch and good luck with all your ambitions! - Jaffar

A great mentor and leader. I think we need to have more people like you in theS world who are always ready to share their knowledge.~Arfa Khadija

If you do not end up being the Dean of SDSB in 15 years, something somewhere must have gone terribly wrong. Or, extremely right. ~Taimoor Zia

I really admire his need for achievement. But quarter of it is enough for me. Rest will be overdose.~Zaid

Adnan bhai, Thank you for bearing me through all the projects and presentations we have worked together. All the best.~MHAB
LUMS... Ahh what can one say.... From the first lecture from Dr Jamshed who wanted to heat us and then beat us so as to mold us into what we wanted, to the never ending new definitions of Random Variable. To the miserable WAC nights leading to the excitement in the last few seconds of uploading, to the constant "but why" of Dr Zahoor to the "jee janab" of Dr Ehsan. I must admit these are the memories that will last with me for a life time. I believe it was all these factors that have made us into what we are today.

Accompanied by the fun, craziness, insane laughter and creation of friendships that will last a life time, LUMS has also given moments that will live with me forever. Starting your day with the smiling guards at the gate, to the intense competition of CP, LUMS became an addiction....oops is an addiction that you came to love. And it is this feeling that I will miss dearly when the MBA finally ends.

However I would like to take this responsibility to say thank you. First and foremost, to Allah for granting me the opportunity to be able to study in an institute like this. Secondly and most importantly to my parents, for being patient and for being sooooooooo incredibly understanding towards my long hours and at times single minded approach towards LUMS. Further I would like to say thank you to all our teachers, without whom this experience would not have been possible.

P.S.

A shout out to my friends Humza, Yumna, Hejab, Kanwal, Aina, Afrah and Khaqan. Without you guys this journey would have been extremely boring and Lawyer hai. Darr jao O_O.

Amina is such a great person to have around. Amina's two best qualities are her confidence and intelligence and the fact that she is such a good friend :), Amina is a happy and friendly person whose always smiling. I know she will do great at whatever she decides to do and i will really miss her
Still as nice and helpful as was in school and of course brilliant in sports. Rock on! #LGS - HJ

The sole voice of reason in the midst of chaos during the business games, the fun driving, the lawyer-like precision of your CPs in Corporate Governance, and your no-frills, forthright manner of speaking will make you a memorable person for me. Trite as it sounds, there really IS no one quite like you in the batch!—Aina Maria WAsseem Experience at LUMS was hectic, eventful and fulfilling. When I got into MBA program, I had this huge fear that LUMS was going to be an extremely competitive place and so was the case. But as the first semester progressed I realized ‘I may not be the smartest person in the room, but I am certainly not the dumbest’ and it was a huge relief.

During these two years I lost few friends due to multiple factors but I don’t regret as only during hardship you see the best out of your friends. Nonetheless, I made some lifelong friends like Shanza Khan and Abid Rehman who were always there to help me. Lastly, LUMS has given me some very cherishing moments of my life that I would always remember and some of very good friends such as Abdul Moeed, Shehryar Sohail, Zaid, Khurrum, Mahvish, Sana Zahra and Sana Makhdoom, with whom I would like to stay in touch.

Heyyyyy,

This space ain’t enough for what I want to write about you... So for the moment I just want to thank you for being with me, for helping me in everything (from breakdowns to studies) and for ALL the countless things you do for me... I remember entering LUMS on the first day thinking there must be some good reason for why am I here & now I feel you are that one reason... I love the confidence and firmness in your personality but few people know your utmost caring & soft side, and I am one of those lucky few... May God bless you... Love,

Shanza

Fawad! If there was one guy on campus worthy of having food with me that’s him. We could eat big time on our own but together we were lethal......... one of the most hardworking guys in the batch and very clear about what he is going to do in life........makes his presence felt no matter where he is in class, soccer field or at work..........great going with you bro, and I WILL HIRE YOU WHEN I MAKE CEO—Abid Rehman

So passionate about studies and work. Very hardworking. Best of luck in life. - Aqida

No one can know him in first meet only. It needs a couple of meeting to un hide the nice person in him—Zaid

Hmmm!!! didnt like you at all but when got to know you it turns out you are a pretty decent piece :P I wish you all the very best and may you get what you really wish for :)—Sana Zahra

Love, Shanaza

Immensely dedicated and hardworking! =)

As football captain he has always been supportive and encouraging. As a classmate he has always been intense and proactive with solid analysis.—Moeed

Our very own hero. Dashing, confident, charming and sporty. Wish you the best, bro! Wali
I didn't think I'd get past the SOP. I honestly didn't.

In all honesty, I also don't think I'll get past this semester. Either way, here we are, two years later, all set to take on the world. The only thing remaining is that interview call.

There are very few things I still remember from the SOP. One being Dr. Arif Butt saying something like, "At no point in your life will you make friends like you will during your MBA". I couldn't disagree more with him then. I can't agree more now. There were a million things I could have written this write-up about. Like those painful all-nighters, those laughter fits, the exam-night H Block trips, my countless HPs, or the endless poondi that LUMS offers. Instead, I'd raise this toast to the truly awesome batch I was a part of.

First, a big shout out to #GossipBoys. What a bunch you guys are! Woh kia kehti hain larkian, "support system?". Yes, that! Always there when you need them. Well, at least before bhabi came in the picture.

I lovingly love each one of you!

The FYP Group, that has seen more fights and arguments than an Indian drama, but has come out stronger than ever before.

The Hostel Boys, my last hope when all hopes (read: alarms) failed.

The Lahoris, who kept raising the bar for hospitality higher, throughout.

And to each member of 2014. You were all bloody brilliant, and I'm inspired!

The king himself. Escue has never ever failed to disappoint me. I wish had found a friend like you earlier in my life. But you are here to stay - Hamad
The best two years of my life which I never wanted to end! LUMS as I call it is a small world in itself, outside of Lahore. The life here was just amazing soothing and memorable. The friends I made here are my friends for life. Those late night hangouts at khoka AKA LUMS square, the crazy WAC nights, CP making our mood good or bad for the whole day, abusing LUMS for too much workloads and missing it like anything during even a 1 week vacation, the gossip session of teen sabelian, the adorable couples made here! In shorts words cannot comprehend the experience I have had here. The things I experienced and the lessons I learnt from here will stay with me forever. I am so proud of being a LUMINITE! A great life experience which cannot be replicated anywhere else.

To all the people who mean a lot to me!!! I LOVE you guys so much and I had a great time with you all. I will miss you and make sure that we don't lose touch! OMG so many weddings coming up!!!! Yaaaahooooo!!!!

Genuine, honest, loyal and not to be missed with... - Meesha

Fan fights in winters; books & jokes only - we need a got to raft; girls chugging over - doves; random, dances & shots; midnight strolling; to be the best roommate ever!

Fond memory - screaming after teasing your leg in the reading room. I'd keep the volume going! - D.D - Jaffar

The MB programme is ending and the prospect of ending up with a job I don't want is scary among other things that are waiting for me in the future but I'm definitely looking forward to getting to know you better - Faiza

Some day you will meet your photogenic vampire or lawyer. Don't fret over it. Your enthusiasm has been a highlight through these 2 years. - Farooq 2a

I firmly believe that story exterior is a sweet person who taught at every case in our DRs. Half my CP grades for you. - Faiza

I am absolutely love you for having such a caring friend. You are my best friend... - Shama

Caring, sensitive, crazy. Sometimes I totally felt adopted don't know what I will do without you - Rabi

Exceptionally caring, support system and awesome friend - Aminah

The Matley cough and the hangover ringtone. Deadly combo - Zeeshan Sharmi

You are very caring and friendly towards everyone even towards those who don't deserve it that shows how good a person you are. We had a bumpy start but I am glad we became friends eventually. With you... - Fawad
SANNA MAKHDOOM
McDOOM

In retrospect, my MBA experience has been all about busting myths. I was told a LUMS MBA warranted hard work and constant vigilance, for the program inherently pitted people against each other. Both claims were unfounded; I had to work much harder than anticipated and in the process, I cultivated lifelong friendships which made me laugh madly, cry miserably, act silly, study, not study, do things I wouldn’t have thought possible and realize that age, time, place are not qualifiers for such friendships to develop. From finding the five girls in SOP to becoming cemented as the ‘pretties’ with the FYP group being the cherry on top while finding kindred spirits at the periphery all along; these individuals added to my grooming as much the amazing faculty. Next, I was told that a LUMS MBA dehumanizes you; people enter only to come out as mere robots. This proved to the contrary; while I still feel emotions, I have a honed logical side; I still have doubts; yet I know in the bigger scheme of things, all works out just fine; while I still crave for wins in life; I know how to handle seeming losses better.

After leaving behind a reasonable job and my city, taking an admission in the Lums MBA program was one of the most difficult decisions I made in my life. After two years, I can safely say it was the best decisions of my life.

From SOP's all-nighters to last-minute submissions of assignments, the MBA program successfully makes you a perpetual nocturnal. I'm not sure whether to curse or praise Lums for this but the ability does come in handy when handling pressure.

The best thing that happened to me during my time at Lums was this crazy bunch of people I made a lifelong friendship with. From surviving the first year torturous life to celebrating the end of the program, my comrades have been my partners in crime in everything I did at Lums. The crazy moments we have spent together during the two years outweigh all the learning I have acquired during the MBA.

The LUMS MBA has been a learning experience for me in more than one ways. From being a journey in self-exploration to a continuous struggle for survival, the whole experience has been like a rollercoaster ride to me. This is probably the best break I could have had from work. The type of people I got to meet over here is probably exclusive to this institution. Some of them are sheer geniuses who cannot be matched through hard work. They are just “different” and I feel really lucky to have interacted with such individuals. Not to forget the special food from “H” Block that we had on weekends (particularly Chatkhara which I am going to miss a lot) played a major role in keeping me motivated as it was the only source of happiness for me during tough times. All in all, the experience has been superb and will stay memorable for a long time. I even cherish the sad moments as without them I would not be able to cherish the happy ones. It gives me great pride in being a part of the most prestigious business school of Pakistan. One particular thing I would like to say to my future self, who would be reading this years from now, is “Always believe in yourself! Have faith! Enjoy life to the fullest!”

Mamun Ahmed Rehman:
Mamun is perhaps the most mature and gentle colleague one can hope to study and work with. His ability to socialize with anyone makes him stand apart. Mamun possesses the capability to criticize a subject constructively so that he conveys his message without humiliating others. One thing that makes this guy a “geek” is his ability to take everyone on board during any discussion. This is perhaps a quality which will make him the next in his future endeavors.

Ahmad Arshar:
Ahmad is one of the funniest guys in the batch and a truly jolly person to be with. He is the type of guy who does not want to make an impression on front of others. He stays in the corner and enjoys the most of the fun which enjoyed by him from most of the guys in the batch. His conflict management skills are remarkable and his name of home is something which I will surely miss. It is due to people like Ahmad that really make your part-time journey enjoyable. I just wish that he stays happy wherever he choose to be.

Jahir Ahmed Khan:
If I have to describe JP in a single word it would be “Brain”. He is the guy LUMS MBA would be proud of. With the maturity to carry on and possess the capacity of information while staying in his field, he becomes a key player of people. His adequate capacity, regulatory skills, ability to present himself and keep the crowd happy, makes him a better person. His ability to keep the crowd happy, makes him the center of attraction. Although he is making for it, he has the qualities to lead to his dream and I wish him luck in pursuing his interests.
Yesterday I had passed on my LUMS visiting card to a senior Omer Shabbir from Batch 2012. He is the same guy who gave me his card back in 2011 in a summit and I came to know about LUMS MBA. The journey from that summit to this write up has some mixed memories. The best memory about LUMS is when SOP because everyone was in the same boat. No matter you are from LUMS, IBA or any other institute, separate sections. Sub sections. Sub-sub groups. We had just one name, Class of 14 or JUNIORS. 3 am was hall hour. On the contrary, we got some good lecturers but we couldn’t get best USTAADs. We could have learned so much from them in informal settings.

1st sem: Teachers bohat achay hai. Yaar meri 5 subjects mei hi lp aa rahi ha. POC ka khana b acha lagta tha. Grade lounge ! I can’t forget you. 2nd Sem: Just 0.5 lp in 1st sem. Ye theetay kabb exchange pe jaei? Zahid ali ki Holy cow and jehsus chrisht 3rd sem: The best time in lums. Brand new quota of LP’s. Theetay students were on exile. We had JUNIORS to grill in SOP. When JUNIORS used to say SIR The most joyus moment!! Using RAND function and telling JUNIORS to work hard.

Though some of our friends are not going to pass out with us but please keep them in the loop for future life as well. Danish Shehzad, Bilal shuja, Ramish, Aaina, Basin, Babar, Fahad, Adnan, Usama, Anam, Farooq and all others Sir/madam you are still part of MBA Class of 14M. Kindly don’t forget those jokes and silly comments. After 10, 15 years we will meet again and most valueable memories to share will be all those stupid, silly comments. As all of us must have been done back biting of others. Please everyone forgive everyone else. Start from me. Special thanks to Sheryar Awan and Waseem for being face of MBA 14.

"I cannot begin to describe how lucky I feel to have met some of the greatest friends a human being could ever hope to have in this life. Truly so many of you have touched my heart and I will never forget any one person who has entered my life or crossed my path. It was the greatest honor and privilege of my life to have been in the company of such magnificent men and women. Each one of you has left an indelible mark on my personality (some more so than other and you know who you are) So much so that you are all a part of me and for that you have my most heartfelt gratitude. We will go far, grow old, and grow further apart, such is life. But every now and then a day will come, maybe a year from now, maybe 5 years from now, or even twenty years from now when we will look back at our time together and it will bring a smile on our face and warmth to our hearts every single time. Thank you all of you for that. May you all have long fulfilling happy lives. Much love. -ZAin"

Only Zain can reach LUMS in 17 minutes from Askari V at rush hour; run all the way from the parking lot to SDSB and then get involved in a lively debate with the instructor without having read the case.~Atique

Zain! Always there to help! Always there to..... be there! One of the most unique personalities I have met! - Jaffar

This guy will move mountains for even the slightest of acquaintances. I’ve never known a better host, and probably never will.

Still have no idea where that bridge is, or when we’re getting there.~RS

A smart, energetic and inspiring person who would always stand up for his friends and believes in 'leaving no man behind'. A true leader in every sense of the word. Mark my words, this guy is destined for big things in life. Osama.

What a gem of a person you are. I am so glad France happened and I got to know you. It was so unbelievable what a generous and accommodating host you were to everyone! You always went out of the way to help me and everyone else. I could not thank you enough for the times I spent in Paris! Whenever you need something, give me a shout out! - Aqida

A natural leader... Hope to see you some day as the leader we all’ve been looking for.~MHAB
Its "Evaluation" time. The key word here is 'value.' Do we have any? Not yet! All I take away is a bunch of 'nighters' in the football field, the adventures of puke-benches, the parking lot sessions, the free coffees, last minute WAC submissions, forced attempts to fill pages, a pointless "where have you seen this before?", forced dabba CPs, failed attempts at group studies, failed gym sessions, Waleed Iqbal's attacks, mid-nights in Paris, homelessness, contemplation under Eiffel tower, missed flights, wrong trains, wrong countries, luggage issues and retail therapies, bad cooking, useless attempts of driving meaning out of Iqbal's philosophy, crazy gossiping, meeting crazy people with crazier philosophies, last minute decisions, frustration over Jam's yelling, 'chichora' acts, random flirting, crazy stalking, self-obsession to the point of narcissism, criticism of PDC food, baseless jokes, mad friends, random party plans ending in a pointless night at puke-benches, pains of SOP, lessons on free-riding and how to look-busy-do-nothing and the understanding of the deeper meaning of life i.e. pure hedonism...

She's an uptown girl, she's livin in an uptown world" very nice person and has a great sense of fashion.. always inspired :) You're brutally honest about the way you are and what keeps you happy-Faizan

You impressed me the very first day I saw you. Too bad I never took an opportunity to get to know you. Stay happy.

On the face of it, the most gorgeous person in the batch. But that's a narrow minded view. Down to earth, incredibly intelligent, fun, hospitable. One of the nicest people in the class.

We had quite a thing going on, would not want to let go of this cute little ass - Rabia

Good luck with everything, Sundas! Wali

In addition to being one of the prettiest girls you will ever come across, she is also one of the very smartest. Once you get to know her you realize what a genuinely warm-hearted and sweet person she is, she has the ability to light up any room just by being there. I wish she may find all the success and happiness that she deserves Alhumdulillah! Allah Pak has blessed me always...
Can't say thank even after looking for many ways...
Now let me tell you the story of my "MBA chase".
Once upon a time I was kid...
Was poor and rude, a little bit...
Saw a dream to become a next hit...
Wondered why just to dream let's do something...
I sat for LMAT and secured admission out of big boxers ring...
And sang a song, DING DONG DING!!!
Then SOP and MBA started...
I felt like my soul is departed...
Without any doubt I became retarded...
Then came my friends... Faru, Mani, Mobbi, Waqar, Ahmed, Saad, Faizan, Irfan & MO...
They mentored me and told me.....ena na tu RO!!!

It's just an MBA... not state of the art "J LO"
Take a nap and become a part of this show
I thanked them and replied, I am fine and please don't try to be my "PIO" (father)
I can't complete my story without faculty...
Who are the one, who change my whole personality...
Made me believe that I am Optimus PAEN (prime) of reality...
I started to work hard and faced the music of brutality...
Initially I hated the system's cruelty...
But it helps to change one's mentality...
And after getting saved from LP's...
One can have leisure of joviality...
In the end, I want to say thanks...
To Family, Faculty and ma Frands...

Thanks to Allah for everything and may he bless us with high ranks...

P.S. LUMS is not only the place to get academics, library, high grades or even wife...
It's a true LUMS FAMILY to get a "WAY OF LIFE"...

I got my parents' money worth at LUMS. I thrive on human interaction and the diversity of people I interacted with during my time at LUMS helped me be the man I am and I like this person. Thank you Batch 2013! Batch 2015! Faculty! MPO! PCO! Staff! And most of all everyone in Batch 2014!
And now that one can almost smell the finish line....I think the time has come where one can be ballsy enough to stand up straight with the head held high and say “THIS HAS BEEN ONE HELL OF A RIDE LADIES AND GENTLEMEN!!” CHEERS to the SOP....to introducing myself to the batch by dancing as NARGIS...to keeping track of all the LPs...to stealing CPs....to the all nighters....to all the times I thought to myself “ab nikaalay gaye toh bohhth bisiti hai”....to the rising heartbeat while opening zambeel....to the DRs....to the faculty....to not waking up for Dr. Ehsan’s midterm....to the Nestle internship interview and my shorts....to all the free riding....to all those who allowed the free riding....to somehow dodging probation....to the absolutely insane four months in Seoul ...and of course....to all my batch mates who made this time....a rather good one indeed!!

What a long strange trip LUMS has been...here is to the future that awaits us and the time that passed us by in the past two years. An ode to the laughter fits during SOP, the last minute submission of WAC's assignments, the raising of hand desperately for a chance to make CP, and the total dabba followed that chance to make that CP. Apart from the academic highlight, a toast to the friends made during this time, to the roommate who is as lazy and tidy as me, to the FYP group who is still confused as why do we have to work so much, and to the #GossipBoys, the entourage of friends without whom LUMS wouldn't have been the same. Moreover, here is to the elusive future corporate job to apply what LUMS gave us. In the end, here is to the life, which I hope to live to its fullest.

FROM SCP TO CONVOGATION, SIR JAM'S SCREAMS TO SIR EHSAN'S COMMENTS, LTMC PRESENTATION PRACTICE SESSIONS TO LAST MINUTE FOURTH SEMESTER PROJECT REPORT CHANGES, FIGHTS IN CRs TO CRYING SESSIONS IN THE OCUMS, MIDNIGHT KHANNA TRIPS TO 8:30AM CLASSES, HIGHLIGHTING CASES TO DABBIA CPs, EY MEETINGS TO DAIH... DOM SIGNING SESSIONS LATE AT NIGHT, SCANDALOUS DORM STORIES TO SPONTANEOUS MOVIE PLANS, COMPLAINING ABOUT BAD FOOD TO GROUP STUDYING IN PC... THINKING HOW IT STARTED TO REALIZING IT IS ALL COMING TO AN END... LIFE AT LUMS HAS BEEN ONE EXCITING EXPERIENCE. IT HAS NOT ONLY MADE ME STRONGER AS AN INDIVIDUAL BUT ALSO EXPANDED MY CAPACITY TO COMPREHEND, SYMPATHIZE, ANALYZE, AND ANALYZE SITUATIONS AND ATTITUDES. THE JOURNEY HAS BEEN MORE MEMORABLE BECAUSE OF THE AMAZING FRIENDS I HAVE FOUND HERE, PEOPLE WHO ADD SANITY TO THE MADNESS, REALITY TO THE ILLUSION AND LOVE TO THE LONELINESS OF LIVING AWAY FROM HOME.

Quite simply, I am a much better person for having known her. Thank you for being one of my best friends, for being a confidant to me, for leading me a shoulder to cry on, for giving me the best pieces of advice, and for helping me in studies... LUMS memories would be incomplete without you... Love you and stay in touch... huggle... - Love, Shameem
THE JOURNEY AT LUMS STARTED WITH TIRING SOP ACTIVITY THAT APART FROM TRAINING ME FOR ACADEMIC CHALLENGES COMING FORWARD, HELP ME TO BLEND WELL WITH MY BATCH MATES. I STILL REMEMBER THE DAY WHEN I WOKE UP SUDDENLY THINKING THAT I WAS LATE FOR CLASS. RAN TOWARDS RESTROOM TO GET READY. SAW MY WATCH BY CHANCE AND FOUND STILL I HAD TWO HOURS. THAT WAS JUST THE BEGINNING. YEARS FOLLOWING THE SOP WERE WONDERFUL. THE BEST AND THE MOST RANDOM TEAM I HAD IN LUMS WAS FOR TOYOTA BATTLE OF MINDS, WHICH PROVED TO BE SUCCESSFUL IN ACHIEVING THE AIM DUE TO ROLES OF EACH MEMBER. FINALLY I DECIDED TO GO ON EXCHANGE TO CHINA. WHERE I EXPERIENCED SEVERAL NEW THINGS THAT WERE NOVEL TO ME. THESE HELPED ME BETTER BLEND AMONGST PEOPLE ACROSS VARIOUS CULTURES.

IN A NUTSHELL THE TWO YEARS WERE A ROLLER COASTER RIDE, WITH DIFFERENT PEOPLE SITTING IN IT BUT AS IT MOVES ACROSS PATH OF UPS AND DOWNS THE SUPPORT FROM PRESENCE OF EVERYONE HELPED OVERCOME THE FEAR AND BE SUCCESSFUL AT THE END.

His Highness, His Excellency, Prince of Rahim Yar Khan - Taimoor Masoom aur sweet Tareen banda! He brought me (and a few others) a slice of cake at midnight on both birthdays I had at LUMS, and would go for socializing to every dorm before sleeping, and would wake everyone up for Fair every day, consistently. sweet :D

I regret I took a lot of time to understand you. A good soul will always remember your implementation of OM lessons at your restaurant just after the class. Wasti
Thank you everyone for making my stay at LUMS a lifechanger. I met wonderful people and wonderful ideas here. I was shown how big things are done and I was taught how money is made but most importantly I learned to win the love and respect of my peers. I'm sure I also hurt many a heart during my stay here and whenever I recall any of those moments it sends shivers down my spine. I hope at least one person has breathed easier at LUMS because of me and I hope I can contribute to my peers' success whenever and however little I can. I really hope and pray that all these young Gekkos go on and change the world for the better. Thank you 2014! Much love!

"Khoya khoya chaand... khula asmaaan" a very decent and thoughtful person. OB mein pehli dafa pata chala k bhai boht tezz hain lolz...loved the moments when the true moazam opened up every now and then.
The world needs more people like you. Nobody doubts that your heart is at the right place and you always want what best for everyone. Stay happy- Faizan
The clock rang 7am and I hardly had the time to realize the fact that life would never be the same again. 3rd August 2012 was going to be a date that I would never forget. All the stories of the dreaded SOP that I had heard from my friends were going to be put to a test. Nevertheless there was a tinge of excitement amid all the chaos. Everyone had warned me regarding the hard and rough time I was going to go through. However what they did not tell me was the fact that the best friendships are forged in the worst of times when everyone is going through the same sh*t. Thus began the momentous journey of a lifetime. I would like to acknowledge here that it not been for a handful of faithful comrades I am not sure if I would be where I am today. They made seemingly boring and tedious work routine enjoyable. Working like a family day in and day out we overcame every adversity, diversity and uncertainty (my friends would understand this part :p) I would dedicate this page to Sana, Arsalan, Taimoor, Hareem, Mahvish and Jaffer!!! Thanks for being there guys!! :D

Abid Rehman
CP is a phenomenon in LUMS MBA so I would start with it first, I realized early on in the programme that my 25 year old brain has little or no RAM left in it. Even highlighted case facts were being stored in my volatile memory which was formatted once the session began. Desperate for the CP, the engineer in me had to rely mostly on Exhibit decoding skills.

Nevertheless, a word of CAUTION!! Do not try to practise these skills with Dr. Zaihaor!!

As far as my learning is concerned, I must admit that I am glad that my LUMS MBA takeaway is not necessarily a massive managerial skills toolkit, rather it is the ‘I CAN DO IT!!’ kind of attitude which I developed in all those late nights just ‘Id Time completed assignments and projects. I learned a lot during those drills except for two things. 1) the art of Freeriding 2) Fashto, despite listening to it for hours, non-stop, day in, day out, except for the word cherta (meaning where).

Lastly I must thank all my friends in my GANG (including those who left the programme after 1st year) who tolerated my “Excited State” and spared my painstakingly slow, yet dangerous driving style. You are all aces in my book. It’s because of you that a highly exhilarating, overwhelming and provoking time at SDSB has also been the most exuberant time of my life, I wish I would be able to invent the time machine in future to relive this cherished time.

My Special Thanks to: Schumacher Sangeen, Naveed Btai or rather Mr. Fashto and now, Farooq Fashion Forever, Qazi Fregider, Adnan (who travelled on the roads single) & the rest of MBA 14

MY DR4 FRIENDS: REEEE!!! shah who had that for being the coolest! Wow, the most exc...
They said it'll be tough. That the case studies consume you and the schedules will devour you. That Jam will grill and the competition will tire you. Family and friends? They can wait a couple of years they said. They were right, at first. But somewhere along the way as the conversations shifted from 'case parh lia, CP lagi, mean kya hai?' to 'chal square chalain, rung khelain, case miss kera', it began to make sense. New friends replaced old and the elusive 32 hour days were found. There was joy in pulling an all-nighter now. Worst of all, you found yourself agreeing with all those horrible, seemingly nonsensical things Jam said at the start.

That to me is the promise of LUMS. It lures you in. You start out trying to run away from it and end up running after it.

That person you see in the top corner there? He's a more complete person now than he was two years ago. And it's all because you awesome people down below.

Oh and just as an added advantage, while I was here, I also managed to get an MBA from the best institute in the country.

Lucy

I don't know how when and why I became 'Lucy' from Hareem but the transition has been an amazing story with weirdest characters who slowly and steadily became a part of me and my life. LUMS MBA truly in all possible manners, became the best ever decision of my life. From a deadly interview to crazy escapes to iftaar plans in SOP, from shying away from all the strangers to becoming a one crazy family, from a fear of raising my hand in the class to conveniently BS-ing without reading the case, from an expressionless face to sudden outburst of emotions, from a clueless and uncertain mindset to taking a managerial call in every class, from late night movie plans and crazy stupid fun sessions to 8:30 nashtas, from fearing JAM to going out with him on a friendly dinner, from being a single to batch ki bhabhi, from a scared young girl to a self-reliant person, from being fearful of uncertainties to becoming thankful to fate for how it unfolds life - maybe that's how I became Lucy from Hareem :)

TESTIMONIALS

Even though our journey is barely a year old in length, its depth encompasses a far greater area than does my whole life before you, which now seems like a small instant. You are the best person I have ever known, and I am the luckiest person I have ever known – Hamad Mahmood

From Hareem to Lucy,
From papri chaat to pani puri,
From Lucy ke bole ka style to Lucy ka blond sense of humor,
From "'either you dream it"' to "'either to live it;
My time at Lums would have been no fun without Hareem - Taimoor

Lucy: (Noun) a sincere, idiotic, 'driver-like' pillar of strength, support n (occasional) wisdom; imbibing oxygen's characteristics since MBA began - Makhdoom

The Lucy has now completed it's MBA. Watch out world - Jaffar

Lucy, tumhara sense of humor boht acha hai.. dheeray dheeray sab ko pata chal jaey ga :D Arslan

The most creative (as shown by the FB statuses :p) and yet cutest person in the whole batch is our lucy!! :D - Hammad Hadi

From the first friendly face in SOP to the wonderful friend today, fellow chaat lover, salt queen with a heart of gold! Mahvish

No issue is worth worrying kyunke akhir me tu sub ne mer hi jana hai :P - Sana Zahra

You are the best roomie I could have ever had. You are just like Azkia to me. I don't remember a single time when I needed you and you were not there - Shanza

Lucie! MBA would be incomplete without you, my female "RUMI". You've always been there to listen to my nonsensical issues. Also, I would have never discovered my love for clothes if it weren't for you. I love you for who you are and for all that you've done. :D
Although I may very well get killed for saying this by the very person for whom it is being said but in three words: "My Hawtestttt friend"

NBM. Homie from the good ol' days of main campus. Keep smiling and bring your awesome self Mahrukh

Amazing time we spent together and for all the craziness that used to happen in dorms thank you so much and will always remember the craziness

"Tujhe daikha tau ye jaana samam, pyar bota hai dewaana samam..." The true shahrakh khan fan. A genius in finance, friendly and cute.

All it takes for Mahrukh to fix things is her smile

The most intelligent girl in the batch.

Strong and independent - very reliable friend.

Mahrukh
Naim Mirza

Always thought seeing her how you can be so capable and confident to turn tables around so quickly.

Resilience personified, except for when we unleash the 'attacks' a u single like a mad thing!

If it weren't for you, LUMS would have driven me crazy. Thankyou for dealing with my random emotional outbursts, my craziness and all the weird things that I usually end up doing. You've kept me sane and have been my biggest strength. Thankyou for being so random, so crazy and so fun and for making sure I do the same and not stress out. I can't imagine a single moment at LUMS without you, you've always been there no matter what happens and have always made sure I don't lose it. I could not have managed LUMS without you at all. Thankyou for being the awesomest friend ever, for real and the best bridesmaid ever too. Who cares what Sohail and Rehman think, they might just be jealous. I LOVE YOU!

Your Bday video summed up your likable personality! Keep in touch you!

Mahrukh-y there is one specific smile that you give is enough to make me realize that I have pulled a 'Lucy' wouldn't have been able to get through Microsoft shit (excuse word project) without you P .

With an unreasonably high IQ, she has always been there as much as she could to make things swifter and easier for our FYP.

LUMS looked like a scary place coming in. People told us horror stories about SOP and JAM screaming at everyone who went out of line. But from day one it has been a life changing experience, meeting new people and making new friends. Late night food runs for Farooq :-P borrowing the car from Qazi for anything (thank you so much mate), Getting life lectures from Naveed Bhai and gathering in Sangeen's room to watch movies were highlights of first year.

Then came the exchange. Saad and Waseem craziest people that I know made the exchange an unforgettable experience. From cooking “Aalo Anda” in our rooms and harassing our neighbor (Bechara rozi shikayat kerta tha hamari) to exploring Seoul and regular visits to Hongdae and the Playground there it was awesome.

All in all, MBA at LUMS is a once in a lifetime experience and I am thankful to Allah, My parents, teachers here at LUMS and last but not the least all the people here and I just want to say to all of them I am going to miss this place and you guys forever. May Allah give all of you what you want for your lives.

(I hate Mohammad Millwala for making “Budha” the most annoying word for me but still I hope he finds Muneeb’s FB logged in and avenges all of us affected by him)

The One who is the best friend I could ever have.

The One who is my soulmate.

The One who makes my life complete.

The One who is my everything.

The One who I will love forever.
Ah, LUMS!

For me this means a place of SOP, latenight cram sessions, pushing the alarm button off one too many times, a time away from home, fighting for CPs, and a place that gave me the best yet crazy "exchange" days.

Here, I accomplished, made mistakes, gained just by trying, got lost – went exploring, made friends, learned to disregard my anxiety and learned to surround myself with motivating individuals while weed out those with bad intentions. These were the two years of complete bliss, the time of complete freedom and the time of self-discovery.

Here's to the best academic experience: You taught me to speak up and advocate for myself, you taught me perseverance, you taught me the importance of good friends, the importance of taking responsibility, the importance of good communication and the importance of taking risks with some "real-time" examples.

Sláinte!

"The CM project with you was memorable in more ways than one. You're an amazing person and one who is true to her word"- Faizan

"Zarmina! Back benchers from the 1st semester. Had some funny times. Hope you stay your same innocent self and keep smiling like you do!" Wali

"As a friend she means the world to me and her friends like her who make life worthwhile. I still hate her that she went to Europe without me but i am glad she had a great time. Although she's got a passionate soul she is at the same time a restless creature, always looking for a way to grow up, to chill, to enjoy, to experience, and to live"

My first year in LUMS wouldn't have been same without you. Thankyou for everything~ Arfah <3
It seems like a tough task now but I am sure as time passes by and the memories get stronger this would only get tougher. So I am going to keep it short. Past 2 years have probably been the most memorable phase of my life, clichéd I know but true too. Made memories, built friendships, found a soulmate – in Johnny, bitched too when I least expected to and other stuff which cannot go in print for the sake of my integrity in the coming years. I can safely say now that I made up for a dull undergraduate life with a crazy time at LUMS. Also, this would not have been possible for each and every one of you who made up for the batch. So God bless and good luck to you all!

You’ve taught me everything I know and then you go and do something that is completely against for what you stand for. hah. You’re great company. All the best—Faizan

The AXE Man of LUMS — wo theek hein? ;) Hareem

‘Do stay in touch, I’m seriously thinking on starting to work on my fitness. Thank you for the first DR memories. MHAB’

Johnny Bravo’s got it going on. From the braun to the looks to the brains. Kicked out of the emirates for being too pretty (look it up...yeah, that’s him), he has recently taken to mesmerizing professors with his gelled hair and killer CPs. Watch out ladies! Wali

Not even I understand myself as good as this man does. Sitting with him through two DRs, travelling Turkey with him, and living through every slot of Dangal with him, I can say that he is the most dependable, helpful and mature person I have met here. Gym at 9, don’t be late – Hamad
LUMS VOYAGE

For me, the LUMS journey was full of adventures and discovery. I experienced everything from lectures, projects, and ice-cream treats to late-night talks at the khokha and dorms. Words can't describe how much fun I had and how many amazing friendships I made. I always took the busy world of LUMS seriously; with every sleepless night I learned something that's necessary because it's all part of getting the next part of myself, the next day. I am amazed by the darkness and the beauty of the MBA program and by the Best Team Leader of all of them, know me? The program not only taught me valuable academic skills, but also pushed me outside of my comfort zone and allowed me to explore new concepts and try new things. I feel a lot of change in my personality and in my thinking process. I learnt how to enjoy the moments when I was burdened with so much work, WAGs, and projects. Even after seeing the worst, I never thought about giving up my LFs and yet I survived.

Starting with the first semester, I enjoyed a lot of socializing events and dinners, and by far with Nayha, Farhan, Harry, Sajid, Maman, Afzah & U. Fights with Lahoris were the funniest moments with some poppy dust cap, Sana, Maaneb, and Taimoor. And then came my saviors at the daman, Cate Mkrish, and Jutt Butt ;). The girls rank dough, our hamsas with Addy, Chiza, Hareem, Shamaan, Aeeni se Aina, and Makhdoom, see the moments I can never forget.

Always the one to cheer you up when the chips are down, Saha, Saha is more than what meets the eye. I wish her the best life has to offer ;). Maman Karakachi has some nice people too ;). May you get all you want and be happy always :) stay in touch girl and do visit me whenever you come to Lahore ;D - Humair

Saha!! You're the sweetest person I know! Always there for anyone who asks for help and advice. You put everyone in a good mood. Had so much fun on the random phone calls you made. Whenever you need a friend, I will always be there for you.
Neha

Hello Saha,
It was good seeing you. I found you a very reliable and sweet friend... Stay in touch... "Hugz"
Love, Shamsa

A great girl, changed alot (style wise) which is a good change... Hard working and a resilient woman.

A little hyper at times but an amazing friend all in all. She is one of the most caring persons on the planet and goes all out for her friends. Truly a gem and a great friend to have an interesting conversation with.
Thanks for being an amazing friend! Hurain

One of the sweetest people in LUMS.

Thank you for all the yummy dishes! "hug" Makhdoom

Strong girl, I will always admire you for a lot of things (beyond the surface)! - Reba

Emotional and very sweet with speech of 'sharmain' here and there - Mahir
Great lifelong friends, many memorable events and some invaluable life lessons; these are what I will be taking away with me as I move on from LUMS.

All was not fun and games though. There were times when things got tough and frankly a little crazy. That however is the charm of this place, it teaches you to perceive, to reach out and achieve that which you did not think you were possible off.

Of course no man is an island and I am glad I got to share my highs and lows with some very genuine people; people who looked out for me and truly cared for me. I am thankful I met them and can now call them my friends. To them I simply say 'I am grateful'; mere words of course but those that I will hopefully have the rest of my life to prove.

I am glad I come to LUMS; it has been a wonderful, extraordinary, enlightening part of my journey. Here is to hoping it just keeps getting better, IA!!

TESTIMONIALS

"The most calm presenter in class. Always composed and never out of decorum. Well... it depends;)"

"Spending two years with you is still not enough. There is still a lot I need to know about you, that’s how broad your personality is. Let’s keep hanging out". - Fatimah

"Although we could not interact more. But I really enjoy your decent and cultured jokes" - Awesome awesome guy... He is one of my best friends and have had a great time with him at different gatherings. A good sportsman like attitude and an amazing view on life." - Haaris

"I’d not have graduated without his help. Thank you!" - Atique

"It’s amazing how a guy his size manages to avoid attention." - Muneeb is simply a man born in the wrong century! My only wish is that the journey continues because he’s been a great buddy." - Mamun

"Someone who can beat me at sarcasm, though I am still funnier than you Muneeb :P; but I am glad that you finally opened up, and made me your friend, please be less serious in life, after all there are good people like us too :P" - Humaira

"The only person I know who would get a heartstroke for an internship. Highly dedicated!" - Agida

"The extravagant one" - The extravagance, that’s why you are simply the best. I always looked up to you as a role model."

"Live long and prosper. =D" - Neha

"If there’s one person that made my stay at LUMS a little more palatable, it’s this guy. True friends stick with you through thick and thin. But I guess going through the same thick and thin together makes you better friends. I know I can always count on you. Wish you all the best. P.S. Star Wars isn’t too bad either ;)" - Zeeshan Sohail

"Good natured and a good Bball player!" - Walid

"I was one of several to say Muneeb had great presentation skills etc etc. Man Amina says, wait this is becoming about Muneeb :O Wish you wouldn’t hide your killer sense of humor so well but since it is hidden under a perfect gentleman I can’t complain. Love the accent in which you say Aina Maria :D" - Aina Maria Waseem
"They say an MBA is about learning how to hide razor sharp teeth and blood stained claws behind shiny new suits. That's something you learn first hand at LUMS but it's not something I'll ever want to stand for. What I chose instead to learn at LUMS was the importance of sticking to the values that make you a good human being and realizing that, sometimes, virtue comes at a cost. Through the thick and thin, I made some friends that will last me a lifetime, and many who's friendship left me wiser for a lifetime. My sincere best wishes to you all. It's been a pleasure!"

Zeeshan Sohail

You are sensible, smart and a highly highly dedicated person. Wish you the best of everything.
- Neha Kamran

The most intellectual and intelligent person with whom you can talk on diverse range of subjects. I wish you all the best for your future endeavours.
- Aftab Khadija

You're out-of-this-world nice and your dedication is unparalleled. You're the kind of guy people want to do nice things for.
- Faizan Faizal

Sheikh Sahab :P Wish you all the best for your future. I am glad that I am in your FYP group :D otherwise would not have known you so well :)!
- Humaira Farooq

While his demeanour may suggest otherwise, this guy has a sense of humor that can make you cry! However, if you do survive, he's a brilliant friend to have. I can say this with ease because I was relaxed in every project where he was the "Leader". Thank you for bearing with me, Zeeshan bhail :D
- Mamun Rasheed

Buddy, your friendship means more to me than was given room to explain. Here is to hoping that it keeps getting stronger. In the eternal words of the legendary Mr. Spock, "Live Long & Prosper!!". P.S. Star Trek Rules! :P
- Syed M. Muneeb

You just can't be bored in this guy's company.
- Atique ur Rehman

I rely on you for the most original posts on facebook, keep helping us combat the ennui!
- Aina Maria Wassem

A promising entrepreneur indeed! Best of luck, buddy.
- Moazzam Aslam

A fellow AFB and a cool guy to share jokes with. A great friend and a decent human being.
- Haaris Jalal
"Two years at LUMS have vanished but generated memories which shall be everlasting. It has generated a lifetime experience and has shown us how to stretch our capacities to achieve seemingly unattainable things. While looking back, I can enjoy the fun element that all those CPs, LPs and late nighters carried with themselves. But above all, I believe, the most valuable thing is the interaction that I made with a number of amazing people and the friendships that I have been able to make in these two years. In a nutshell, these two years have been the best of my academic life."

MBA MUSIC SOCIETY

A movement was set in motion by a group of musicians/trend-setters to change the way MBA students are perceived inside and outside the boundaries of LUMS. A tremendous amount of talent existed in the MBA batches which needed to be showcased to the LUMS community. Months of struggle by relentless students and faculty members resulted in the "MBA Music Society of LUMS".

Follow the Music: The Launch Event of the society was organized in collaboration with the GMC. The entire batch, along with Synergies' audience united to support the musicians resulting in an amazing start to the society. The movement had begun...

Loud n' Proud: The Grand Finale of the society was a mega event which called upon big names from the industry to perform alongside the MBA Musicians. It was organized in collaboration with LMEC. A capacity crowd packed the arena, in front of a towering stage shooting fireworks and confetti to the skies. It was a night of unforgettable music.

Beginning Of The End
Life at LUMS
by Aina Maria Waseem

It began with us thinking we would be knocked down like bowling pins:

"Ten little Indian boys went out to dine;
One choked his little self and then there were nine.
Nine little Indian boys sat up very late;
One overslept himself and then there were eight.
Eight little Indian boys travelling in Devon;
One said he'd stay there and then there were seven.
Seven little Indian boys chopping up sticks;
One chopped himself in halves and then there were six.
Six little Indian boys playing with a hive;
A bumblebee stung one and then there were five.
Five little Indian boys going in for law;
One in Chancery and then there were four.
Four little Indian boys going out to sea;
A red herring swallowed one and then there were three.
Three little Indian boys walking in the zoo;
A big bear hugged one and then there were two.
Two Little Indian boys playing in the sun;
One got all frizzled up and then there was one.
One little Indian boy left all alone;
He went out and hanged himself and then there were none."
(Irish Poem)

It was Ramadan in the hot summers of Lahore, and almost all of Pakistan's student body was on vacation. One set of miserable souls, however, was slaving and slaving away till their backs broke and their eyes drooped and some of them even fainted dead away. The walls of the campus used to ring with the rising notes of instructors as they expressed their exasperation with the dumb and sorry lot. The lot in question was deciding that the folks up at Guantanamo Bay had it all wrong and needed to enrol at LUMS to even begin to understand the meaning of the term "torture". I will warn anyone who asks NEVER to consider admission here was the private thought in everyone's mind, and yet no one was seriously thinking about emerging alive to tell the tale anyway. And then there were none, and then there were none, and then there were none... brain explosion

Fast forward a few weeks and the dreaded first semester had begun. Forced to climb atop each other merely to survive, it was a race just to stay alive in the program. Morals and ethics received the biggest jolt of a lifetime, as waiting for a friend before leaving for class could mean zero CP. Whether or not to stay back to hold open a door for a stranger was a raging debate in the head. What to reveal during the discussion period was a far more serious one. By necessity, the most loyal amongst picked out a favoured set of friends to whom we may explain the case or for whom we may put down our hands. It was simply un-thinkable to do it for everyone, for that would kill the competitive advantage, and in a system of forced curves, competitive advantage was what it took to survive. Tension, lack of trust, lying by concealment, and affecting lack of understanding was the order of the day. We feared for the mental stability of our seniors, who had informed us during the SOP that the friends one makes at LUMS are friends for life.
Come second semester and with it began another chapter. Those with “clean slates” started opening up their wings and daring to enjoy life a little. The rebels continued to rebel against the system and quite a few brilliant people left the batch during the tumultuous first year. Every session with the Dean and Associate Dean was a moot discussion about the merits and demerits of a system that was not going to be changed on our behalf. The exchange students talked of nothing but their plans for the third semester and everyone else just settled in much more comfortably than they had last semester.

2nd Year and finally it seemed as if graduating from LUMS was a very real possibility indeed. All the exhortations by the teachers back in the SOP that no matter how much we hate it, the “SYSTEM” had been designed to cater to everyone’s strengths and with a reasonable amount of exertion, we actually could all pass out began to make sense. For the first time, we realized that the only way to create 36 hours out of 24 is not to make twice the effort. It could be done by completing work in half the time it would have taken many of us before arriving here. We realized not only that life at LUMS is actually fun and happiness is possible, but also that there is a life outside LUMS. After what had seemed a year of interminable hardwork, we found ourselves dreading what awaited us: dreading the cold routine of the never-ending office job, and yet ecstatic about those coveted 6 figures... Towards the end, we felt fear, excitement, frustration and sadness all at the same time. We had silently admitted to ourselves if not to each other, that horror of horrors, we were going to miss LUMS.

It ended up with us opening our eyes, shaking out our ensemble and rejoicing our survival:

And I’m still alive!
Alas, after ages
Comes the end to our strife

Something of this life we must make
As winding and twisting roads we take

Encounter we do strange faces on the way
Meeting several challenges in one day

And now as we prepare to spread our wings and fly
It seems by being nostalgic we may even cry

For all the toils and all the troubles
We laughed and joked and lived in bubbles

LP was our bogeyman; CP was our plague
Thoughts of the big bad world outside were only ever vague

Do laugh my friends, while yet it is simple
You must do your work and go around with a dimple

Good luck, my friends, it’s the world’s call
LUMS wasn’t so bad after-all!
